Flags of 21 Nations Float Over Field as Fans Cheer Battle.

WEATHER MAN GIVES DAY OF SUNSHINE

Stimson Heads Parade of Teams to Center Field With Bands Playing.

DIPLOMATS, OFFICIALS MINGLE IN CROWDS

President Remains to End of Tenth Inning; Throngs Enjoy Scrap.

By DON B. REED.

Baseball made its 1931 debut locally yesterday to the sound of artillery salutes, the blaring of bands, the cheers for the home club and the jeers for the visiting firemen.

Everything was perfect except the behavior of the Philadelphia Athletics. Unkindly souls that they are, the players led by the veteran Connie Mack outlasted the assemblage guided by Walter Johnson in a ... season, eleven-inning battle that bristled with thrills. The score was 5 to 3.

While 32,000 and more Washingtonians went home in gloom as a result of the defeat, on sober reflection today they probably will decide they received their money's worth or more.

Weather Is Delightful.

The weather man, hoodoo of so many opening days, was pleasant beyond expectation. Clear and warm, the day reminded of June or July rather than mid-April. The fans, sensing a renewal of the bitter feud between last year's first and second place clubs, came early and stayed until the finish.

When the gates swung open at 11:30 o'clock, several thousand rooters streaked for the unreserved seats. They were followed in leisurely fashion by the holders of grand stand tickets and there was the usual last-minute rush, with hundreds of standees and sittees in the aisles and on the railings.

Batting practice, fielding practice, the antics of Altrock and Schacht, together with band music, furnished entertainment for the early arrivals, but the big show came at 2:30, when the rival clubs joined with official Washington in honoring the nations to the south of this country on Pan-American day. With the arrival of President Hoover and his party, accompanied by all of the Cabinet members with the exception of Attorney General Mitchell, the festivities began.

HOOVER LAYS NEGRO UPLIFT TO SCHOOLS

President Lauds Tuskegee Institute on Anniversary of Founding.

(Associated Press.)

Negro schools established since the days of slavery were credited yesterday by President Hoover with having exerted the greatest influence in averting social upheavals following the admission of 4,000,000 slaves to citizenship.

From the study in the White House where President Lincoln signed the Emancipation Proclamation, the Chief Executive participated in the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of Tuskegee Institute at Tuskegee, Ala., by Booker T. Washington. His address was transmitted to the chapel of the institute, and there rebroadcast to the country.

President Hoover praised the work of Washington in leading his race toward literacy, and said the progress of the Negro since slavery "has surpassed the most sanguine hopes of the most ardent advocates."

The text of the President's speech follows:

"I consider it a great privilege to take even a small part in this celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of Tuskegee Institute. Established half a century ago by Booker T. Washington through initial aid from the State of Alabama, it has grown into a great national educational institution, devoted to the development of the Negro race and maintaining at all times a leadership in its advancement.

"It is now over 60 years since the Negro was released from slavery and given the status of a citizen in our country, whose wealth and general prosperity his labor has helped create. The progress of the race within this period has surpassed the most sanguine hopes of the most ardent advocates. No group of people in history ever started from a more complete economic and cultural destitution.

"The fiftieth anniversary of the founding of Tuskegee marks at the same time almost the semicentennial of Negro progress. Within that period

Man Burns 2 to Death, Stabs Third, Kills Self

Lodi, Ohio, April 14 (U.P.).—Driven to a mad frenzy in a quarrel with his wife, John McGreggor, 47, threw kerosene over her and her son, Harold Ridley, 20, and set them afire. Clayton McAfee, a roomer, attempted to intervene and was stabbed through the heart.

McGreggor retired to the woodshed and hanged himself with a log chain. Mrs. McGreggor and her son died several hours later, from their burns.

MONEY IS IDENTIFIED AS PAID ROWBOTTOM

Former Representative Hit for Receiving Pay to Help Man Get Job.

Evansville, Ind., April 14 (A.P.).—Money marked with pinholes was paid to Harry E. Rowbottom, former representative, to get his recommendation for a rural mail carrier position at Rockport, Ind., according to testimony at his trial in Federal Court here today.

Hilbert Bennett, a contractor, of Rockport, identified on the witness stand a numerical record he had made of seven $100 bills, two twenties and a ten which he had obtained from the Citizens State Bank of Dale and loaned to W. G. Ayer. The latter testified this morning that he paid this money to Rowbottom on November 26, 1930, to obtain the post of rural mail carrier for his son, Gresham Ayer. Aaron Ayer, a brother of W. G. Ayer, was a witness to the transaction, according to the testimony.

On cross-examination, Bennett admitted he had made a record of the bill numbers and also put pinhole marks in each bill so that the money could later be identified. He said he thought it was not going to be used for a legitimate purpose. Bennett identified a $100 bill offered as a Government exhibit as one of the bills he had loaned to W. G. Ayer.

Other witnesses also identified the piece of currency as one which Row-

JOHNSON APPROVED BY HOWARD'S BOARD

Trustees Vote Confidence in Institution's President; Students Celebrate.

Trustees of Howard University, leading Negro educational institution in the world, yesterday publicly voiced their complete approval of the conduct of Dr. Mordecai W. Johnson, first Negro president of the university.

Announcement of the opinion of the trustees was made soon after 7:30 o'clock last night, after adjournment of the meeting of the trustees, which had been begun at 10 o'clock in the morning.

Students of the university had gathered about the library in which the trustees were meeting, and they cheered and clapped their hands when announcement was made of the action of the trustees, and immediately set forth to demonstrate in other ways.

They built a huge bonfire on the campus, which sent up such a blaze that someone turned in a fire alarm, though nothing but the wood in the fire was endangered. Then when the fire engines came and one engine was driven on the campus, preparatory to putting out the blaze, the students surrounded it and laughed and shouted and told the firemen not to put out the blaze. The firemen's attitude was pretty faint hearted anyway, and soon they gave up their effort and drove away, letting the fire burn.

Meanwhile other students rushed to the university chapel and the

11 AMERICANS ARE REPORTED REBEL VICTIMS

Employes of Fruit Firm Allegedly Killed in Nicaragua.

INSURGENTS MOVING ON PUERTO CABEZAS

Preparations Are Made to Evacuate Persons in Threatened Area.

New Orleans, April 14 (A.P.).—Standard Fruit & Steamship Co. officials said tonight they had received reports from Nicaragua indicating that eleven Americans and an undetermined number of British subjects have been killed by insurgents who were reported moving on Puerto Cabezas.

The Americans killed were mostly employes of the fruit company and its subsidiary, Bragmans Bluff Lumber Co., the officials said. They were working in the interior, they explained, and Americans at Puerto Cabezas were in no danger, as the United States gunboat Asheville and two of the Standard Fruit & Steamship Co. boats were standing by ready to offer refuge.

The officials said the insurgents were not molesting native Nicaraguans, but were centering their antagonism against American and British residents.

The insurgents, company reports said, greatly outnumbered the Guardia Nacional.

Names of those killed were not available tonight, the company said.

(Associated Press.)

The State and Navy Departments last night were unable to confirm reports to Standard Fruit & Steamship Co. officials at New Orleans, indicating eleven Americans and an undetermined number of British subjects had been killed by Nicaraguan insurgents.

Marines from the U. S. S. Asheville were authorized yesterday by the State Department to land in Nicaragua to protect American citizens after receipt of information that several had been killed and some had become missing during the last 48 hours.

Col. William C. Dufour, attorney of the Standard Fruit & Steamship Co., was informed last night by representatives of his company at Puerta Cabezas, Nicaragua, that 25 Marines were landed there during the day, but soon returned to the Asheville when relieved by local guards. They were prepared to land again if needed.

Authority to land forces to protect American lives was radioed by the State Department to Commander W. W. Waddell, commanding the Asheville.

Names of Two of Missin.

On the basis of another message from standard representatives, Col. DuFour gave the State Department the names of Hugo and Otto Lehman as two of the missing Americans. Be-

SPANISH REPUBLIC FREES PRISONERS

First Cabinet Decree Sets at Liberty All Political and Military Victims.

Madrid (Wednesday), April 15 (A.P.).—Spain's republican cabinet, born at 9 p. m., last night, when Alfonso left the capital, issued its first decree over President Alcala Zamora's signature before midnight.

It was an order for the immediate release of all political or military prisoners charged with antimonarchical activity. It was supplemented by an executive order, that the prisoners be liberated without delay.

As an additional illustration of its temper, the cabinet decreed a reduction of the sentences of all common law prisoners. As a concession to the thousands of Spaniards who cheered and paraded all night long, the government officially declared today a national holiday.

Then it got down to business.

Gen. Del Llana was appointed captain general of Madrid, a post previously held by Federigo Berenguer, brother of the former premier. Then it appointed Pedro Rico Mayor of Madrid.

Hundreds of other appointments must be made immediately, including provincial governors, but if any were made at last night's long cabinet session they were not announced.

Alcala Zamora, too weary for formalities, postponed his official inauguration as provisional president until some time today. As the members of the cabinet emerged from the office where they had sat together for long

981-YEAR SPANISH ROYAL RULE ENDS

Writer Vividly Describes Scenes of Gayety Over Transatlantic Phone.

By JOHN DE GANDT.

Madrid, April 14 (By Transatlantic Telephone to Buenos Aires and Cabled to New York).—(U.P.).—As I am speaking across the Atlantic this capital is living in one of the greatest moments in its history.

Alfonso XIII, a king all the 44 years of his life, has gone. The people are rejoicing and marching through the streets. A republic has been proclaimed and April 14, 1931, has become a significant date in history.

I have just obtained the gist of the farewell message which Alfonso gave Count Romanones, his foreign minister, before leaving for Cartagena.

The message, a historical document, is addressed to the Spanish nation. The king says he realizes that he would be under a very serious responsibility, if he opposed the will of the nation, and adds that he knows his person has become incompatible with many sections of Spanish opinion.

He wrote that he wishes only the welfare of Spain and that he believed it would be best for all if he left the country.

I understand that Alfonso's resignation comprises his own resignation and renunciation of the throne for all his descendants, while the Republican government guarantees the lives of all members of the royal family.

Alfonso's private property, I am ad-

BARCELONA ALSO IS UNDER NEW CONTROL

Republicans Formally to Be Placed at Helm of Spain Today.

FREEDOM IS CHEERED BY PARADING CROWDS

Chieftains, Some Recently Released From Prison, Chosen Ministers.

(Associated Press.)

Barcelona, Spain, Wednesday, April 15.—Francisco Macia, provisional president of the Catalonian republic, early today issued a declaration that he had "assumed office provisionally under Alcala Zamora as head of the federated Spanish republic," and that the Catalonian republic would be an integral state within the Spanish federation.

At a general election to be called by the government, he said, Catalonians will be given an opportunity to name a regular president. He appealed for order throughout the state, declaring that disturbers of the peace are traitors to the country.

(Copyright, 1931, by United Press)

Madrid, April 14. (U. P.)—King Alfonso XIII of Spain, last of the Bourbons today gave up his throne, bowing to popular will.

Alfonso left Madrid secretly by motor car for Cartagena tonight. He was understood to be planning to board a Spanish warship there, and sail for an unascertained destination, on his road to exile.

A Republican government was organized by Niceto Alcala Zamora, popular choice for first president. A republic was proclaimed throughout the country. Other Republican leaders, some recently released from prison, were made cabinet ministers.

A separate Catalonian republic was proclaimed at Barcelona, with Col. Francisco Macia as president. Zamora said that this would be one of several "republics," or states, within the federal government.

Two cabinets were functioning in Madrid this evening. The monarchist concentration ministry headed by Premier Juan Bautista Aznar had not quit, formally, though the Republicans ruled.

Martial Law Declared.

Aznar issued a decre declaring martial law. The capital was quiet. Few police were seen on the streets. The country remained peaceful.

There was threat of trouble, however. At 9 p. m. it became known that Frederico Berenguer, captain general of the Madrid region, had refused to surrender his command of the soldiery.

Gen. San Jurjo was attempting to persuade him to step aside peacefully in the interest of peace.

The Republican government at once ordered the arrest of Berenguer and his brother, former Premier Damaso Berenguer.

The order subsequently was withdrawn, however, with Federico Berenguer agreed to relinquish his command.

It was rumored as Alfonso left, that he had failed to sign the formal pledge of abdication, relinquishing the throne forever in the name of himself and his heirs.

Popular enthusiasm for the republic increased hourly. Parades and demonstrations were held.

The people were astonished at the pace of the day's events. They could

Calvin Coolidge Says:

While education is almost entirely a problem, the National Government has long manifested a deep interest in it and encouraged it with official help and advice at some expense. The Department of the Interior, which has charge of it, is now headed by a university president, Ray Lyman Wilbur.

The draft during the war, the census of 1920 and of 1930 all reveal that we have a long way to go to eradicate illiteracy. Self-government is predicated on popular education. Often the privilege of voting is withheld from those unable to read and write. Ignorance can not defend us in peace or war and has become more and more difficult in securing employment.

Earning a livelihood, voting intelligently, national defense, physical, mental and moral development, and even the cause of religion, depend on education. Without it there is no way to raise the material or spiritual standards of life.

About 4,000,000 adults in this country, unable to read or write, despite the heavy school costs, are not only a menace but evidence of the failure of local government. If there is one thing more than another a citizen has a right to demand from organized society, it is education.

Post's Bridge Tournament Is Attracting Both Sexes

Entries to Date Nearly Evenly Divided; Question of Supremacy May Be Decided; Many Men Seeking Instruction From Ladies.

I've taken my game where I've found it;
I've ruffed and I've trumped in my time,
I've had my pickin' o' partners
And some without reason or rhyme;
Miss Jessie, Miss Tessie, and others there were,
And also my wife—my storm and my strife,
But, I've learned about Contract from her!
Bridge Room Ballads.

That's just it; the ladies are teaching bridge to the men, giving them some good instruction on the play of the game, and the men are learning from them.

This is evident from the correspondence that comes to the bridge editor of The Post respecting the first annual bridge tournament of Washington players. One lady entrant declares that her husband is not an expert player, and admits it, "but," she adds, "I am giving him intensive instruction, which he accepts gracefully, and even eagerly, by the way, and by the time the middle of next month rolls around I believe he will be an acceptable partner at the bridge table."

Another lady teacher has had the satisfaction of having four men who intend to enter as a foresome come to her for a series of coaching lessons, confessing her superiority at the game and acknowledging her ability to impart her technique to them. And so it goes. Whether men actually play a better game than women is, of course, an open question, but that some of them play equally as well is not a matter of serious dispute. At any rate, the ladies are taking just as much inter-

Industry Is Warned By Couzens to Change

Revision Must Come or Unemployment Insurance and Old Age Pensions Are Likely, Senator Declares in Urging Stabilization.

(Associated Press.)

American industry was warned yesterday by Senator Couzens it must revise its methods to prevent recurrence of present conditions or be prepared to accept unemployment insurance and old age pension legislation.

The Michigan Republican, former vice president and general manager of the Ford Motor Co., sounded the warning in a formal statement addressed to the forthcoming meeting of the United States Chamber of Commerce at Atlantic City, April 28 to May 1.

William Butterworth, president of the Chamber of Commerce, thanked Mr. Couzens for his suggestions and said business men of America "are trying honestly to find solutions for our major economic problems."

Calling upon business men who will attend that meeting to "devise ways and means for the stabilization of industry and the maintenance of continuous employment," Mr. Couzens said:

"I submit that questions of unemployment insurance, old age pensions, regulation of industry, do not arise in Congress unless there is a great need. Issues are not raised in Congress out of thin air.

"Congress will not provide for unemployment and old age insurance if industry does not creat the need. If industry does not want Government's interference in business, it must prevent the need.

"Frankly, knowing as I do the details of Government in Washington, I would much prefer that industry, individually, or in groups, would take care of these matters.

"However, the American public has exhibited great patience to give industry an opportunity to take care of these matters, and it can not be expected that the public will wait much longer, if at all."

Mr. Butterworth said business men hope "that through counsel and discussion, such as will take place at gatherings like that to be held in Atlantic City, they may be able to find answers to some of the questions that are perplexing all of us—Government, business, labor, and agriculture alike."

"We believe that sober business management," he added, "is devoted to reducing unemployment as rapidly as possible without jeopardizing the 40,000,000 now at work. The chamber will be glad to have Senator Couzens join 3,000 other business men at Atlantic City and it welcomes any remedial suggestions he may have to offer."

Miss Taylor to Ask Decree, Unless She Changes Mind

Hints at Action Within 48 Hours, But Indicates Visit From Dempsey, for Whom "Door is Always Open," Might Effect Reconciliation.

Los Angeles, Calif., April 14 (A.P.).—Estelle Taylor said tonight that her mind was made up and that she would file a suit for divorce from Jack Dempsey in the Los Angeles Superior Court "very soon."

She left herself a loophole, however, as she claimed the feminine prerogative—permission to change her mind.

Informed there was a rumor that Dempsey was en route here from Reno, Nev., where he went recently with the announced intention of establishing a residence and seeking a divorce from his film actress wife, Miss Taylor said her door would be open to him. Apparently as far as she was concerned, there was a chance for reconciliation.

"If Jack comes, will your door be open to him and will you discuss this matter with him?" Miss Taylor was asked.

"The door of this house is always open to my husband."

Pressed for some hint as to when her suit would be filed, Miss Taylor said "I have a feeling something will happen within 48 hours."

The actress said the charges she will make in her complaint will not be sensational.

"I will include as little as possible in the complaint," the woman who married the boxer in 1925, said "and I don't know yet whether I shall ask for alimony. A sensational divorce would injure my picture career, and I need to work. I must work to keep my mind occupied."

She was asked why she did not call

NEWS of SUBURBAN Washington and the Surrounding States
Appears on Pages 4 and 22 Today

not seem to realize that the king had gone. Leaders encouraged demonstrations. The red flag of the republic was seen in many crowds.

Zamora called the first meeting of his Republican cabinet tonight. He indicated one of its first decrees would be a declaration of amnesty for political prisoners.

Members of the first republican ministry included: Finance, Manuel Garcia Prieto; foreign affairs, Alejandro Lerroux; justice, Fernando de Los Rios; public works, Alvaro Albornoz; war, Manuel Azana; navy, Casares Quiroga; interior, Miguel Maura; labor, Largo Caballero; communications, Diego Barrios; public instruction, Marcelino Domingo; national economy, Luis Nicolau-Olwer.

The army leaders are under orders of the republic.

Alfonso, even as he brought to an end the long line of royal rulers of Spain, lived up to his reputation for a sense of the dramatic. It was with a typical "beau geste" that he decided within the space of a few minutes this morning to quit his throne in the face of the Republican victory in Sunday's municipal elections—the first elections held in Spain in eight years.

The populace since yesterday had been expecting but hardly daring to believe that Alfonso would relinquish the throne. He was born a king. To quit and get out was a step against the traditions of centuries as well as the habits of a lifetime. None ever called him craven.

His abrupt decision took the people by surprise. They could not realize what had happened, although they had demanded it for years. A series of dictatorships resorted to by Alfonso when his throne was menaced in the past, had left them skeptical. The news of the king's abdication came at lunch time.

Enthusiasm Is Growing.

Numerous persons in the government, in the Republican ranks and on the street were overjoyed, in the main, and their enthusiasm grew as realization of the king's departure permeated the popular consciousness.

Count Romanones, foreign minister in the Aznar cabinet, announced that Alfonso's farewell message to his people would be published tomorrow morning.

Alfonso's passing was dramatic. He moved rapidly when once his mind to get out was made up. Admiral Jose Rivera arrived at the palace at 8:40 p. m. A few minutes later Alfonso stepped alone into a motor car, and, accompanied solely by his chauffeur, left the palace.

His car was followed by two others carrying civil guards as protection. He drove off in the direction of Cartagena at high speed.

The utmost confusion prevailed at the palace after his departure. Servants wept. None knew, or would tell, the eventual destination of Alfonso.

Mauro Addresses 50,000.

Miguel Mauro, minister of interior in the Republican cabinet, addressed an intense throng of 50,000 persons before the ministry tonight.

"Citizens of Madrid," he said in an historic address, "the people through their act of citizenry have unseated the king. We must remain vigilant as long as representatives of the fallen regime remain in Spain.

"Let our conduct be orderly and enthusiastic. Let there be tranquillity, for we have now begun to govern Spain."

A tremendous shout went up. It was one of countless scenes enacted all over the capital, all over Spain today and tonight as the republic was born.

The new director of public safety, Gen. Carlos Blanco, took over his duties this evening.

The republic was proclaimed at cities and towns throughout the country. It was first proclaimed at Barcelona. It was orderly everywhere. Madrid was particularly calm.

Minor Clashes Reported.

Minor clashes were reported elsewhere. They were of sporadic nature and not regarded as significant. A youth, Francisco Boza Garcia, 16, was shot and killed by civil guards during a brief riot at Huelva, reports said. Two other youths were wounded. Republicans protested the shooting.

Demonstrations comparatively orderly in nature continued in Madrid tonight.

"It was the most moving and saddest spectacle that I ever saw," he said. He said that Alfonso signed a farewell message and gave it to him. He said he would make it public tomorrow.

Count Romanones, describing the king's farewell to his ministers, said that Alfonso, after signing his message of farewell and renunciation, stood with pen in hand and said:

"I believe I have conscientiously served my country. Such has been my intention. This moment I feel that I am more of a Spaniard than ever."

Many Persons Weep.

Alfonso then embraced each of his ministers, and in a profound, dramatic silence went into an adjoining chamber. There he embraced numerous grandees and dames of Spain. Many wept. He came back to the cabinet meeting for a moment, then left to prepare for his departure.

Zamora, Republican leader, in a radio speech tonight announced that the first decree appearing in the Official Gazette in the morning would be one freeing all political prisoners, both military and civil.

He said that the Gazette tomorrow also would publish a decree suspending all decrees signed by the king which would have appeared in the Gazette tomorrow.

Zamora, head of the Republican cabinet, said that he had talked with Col. Macia, head of the Catalonian group. When he told Macia that Alfonso was leaving, Macia, he said, replied:

"That's the first time this gentleman has known how to do his duty. He is doing something in accordance with the people's will."

Family to Leave Today.

It was understood that Alfonso had decided to send Queen Victoria and the princes and princesses immediately toward France. The government was informed that the queen and the children would quit Madrid tomorrow morning for France, via Hendaye on the border. They were expected to reach Paris Thursday.

The loyalty of the troops to the king remained a major problem tonight. It was admitted in the new Republican government that three regiments in the provinces were still loyal to Alfonso and reported ready to take arms in his cause, if necessary.

Aznar, head of the monarchist cabinet, announced that he would turn over the government to the Republican ministry tomorrow morning, at the prime minister's residence.

"This is a mere formality," Aznar said, "as the new Republican government already is in power."

The Republican government has ordered the Monarchist civil governor at Barcelona to turn over all powers.

Ministry Taken Over.

At midnight the new minister of war, Manuel Azana, took over the ministry. Gen. Ruiz Forniels summoned all the generals on active duty and presented them to the new minister.

Forniels was appointed captain general of Madrid, succeeding Gen. Federico Berenguer. Gen. Lopez Lchoa was appointed captain general of Catalonia.

Minister Azana telegraphed all garrisons: "As I have taken charge of the ministry of war, I greet all officers whose patriotism and discipline has been manifested on this glorious day, expecting the collaboration of every one so that I may efficiently perform my duties."

CHILDREN TO ASSIST BICENTENNIAL PLANS

Brodacast Sunday Afternoon Will Launch Arlington Students' Phase.

ARLINGTON COUNTY
BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 500. Clarendon, Va.

The official launching by the National George Washington Bicentennial Commission of the public school phase of America's preparation for the celebration next year will take the form of a radio program to be broadcast over Station WJSV, Mount Vernon Hills, Va., from the Washington-Lee High School next Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, according to an announcement yesterday by the Arlington County Bicentennial Council.

Arrangements for the use of the recently enlarged Arlington County High School by the Federal commission as the stage from which to launch the national program were perfected by County School Superintendent Fletcher Kemp, who is chairman of the county council's committee on public school participation.

In addition to an address by Representative Sol Bloom, director of the bicentennial, there will be addresses by Dr. Sidney P. Hall, State superintendent of schools, and State Senator Robert Norris, jr., who will speak as the personal representative of Gov. John Garland Pollard, who is unable to attend.

There will also be a program of music by the high school band and a school chorus, assisted by a number of the church choirs of the county. A cast of high school pupils will also depict in a tableau one of the important events of Virginia's participation in the War of the Revolution.

Admission to the exercises will be free, but will be limited up to 2:20 o'clock to holders of tickets, which will be distributed by the county bicentennial council through its affiliated organizations and other similar bodies not so affiliated but which may desire to participate in the distribution. After 2:20 o'clock the doors will be thrown open to the general public, but will be closed again at 2:30 o'clock, the hour set for the beginning of the broadcast.

Organizations desiring to secure tickets of admission for distribution to their members should apply at the council's headquarters in the Arlington County Chamber of Commerce rooms in the Kelley Building in Clarendon, the announcement states.

Seeking the interest of the citizens of Arlington County in the coming election in November, when all county officers will be filled excepting that of county clerk, the Better Government League, of Arlington County, organized less than two months ago, sent broadcast over the entire county yesterday a circular appealing to all citizens, who are otherwise qualified, to pay their poll taxes. The circular sets forth that all poll taxes must be paid on or before May 2 to County Treasurer E. Wade Ball, at his office at the county courthouse

The reason for this organization, as set forth in the circular is that past experience has demonstrated that the presentation of the names and claims of a multiplicity of candidates for county officers results in so splitting the vote as to something bring about the election of inferior candidates.

The league is composed of a group of citizens who seek to bring about unity of action among those who propose to support the best qualified men for election to the new County Board of five members who will replace the present three members of the board of supervisors under the present form of Government, irrespective of party affiliations or personal friendship.

It is further stressed that those who have not already registered should do so at once. The qualifications are, resident of the State for one year, of the county for six months and of the precinct in which you offer to vote for 30 days prior to the election.

The names of the registrars are: Arlington precinct, Mrs. Mary Moore McIntosh; Ballston precinct, Mrs. Catherine M. Rogers; Carne Precinct, Henry Parker; Cherrydale precinct, M. W. Thayer; Clarendon precinct, No. 1, Mrs. Clara Nevin; Clarendon precinct, No. 2, Mrs. Azile M. Haley; East Falls Church precinct, Gerald V. Turner; Glencarlyn precinct, J. D. Cushman; Lyon Park precinct, Mrs. Margaret Stickley; Virginia Highlands precinct, Mrs. Elsie Gordon, and Rosslyn precinct, Mrs. Frank Scott.

The circular concludes with an appeal to all voters to refrain from pledging themselves to any candidate for office so far in advance of election. Leave yourself free to cast your ballots as you deem best after all candidates are known and all issues fully developed, it urges.

The increasing number of speeders which have been brought into the county police court recently, indicates that all county police under the leadership of Sheriff Howard B. Fields are waging war on motorists who are violating the county speed laws.

Police Judge Harry R. Thomas has laid special stress on the continued speeding on the Lee Highway where recently two persons have met their death and where investigation has shown that the cause has been speeding.

The police have been instructed by both Sheriff Fields and Judge Thomas to cite all motorists violating the law into court.

Bids for the improvement of and reconstruction of a part of Rucker avenue and Courthouse road, in Lyon illage, will be received and opened by the county board of supervisors at its meeting today at the courthouse.

With a free right of way over the entire distance of Washington street for the intersection of Wilson boulevard to the new Memorial Bridge, the right of way committee of the North Arlington County Bridge Approach Association will appear before the board and ask that Washington street be taken over and improved as an adequate approach to the bridge.

The committee will be headed by William Conrad Gloth as chairman, and will include Charles T. Jesse, Raymond Bause, W. O. Pickett, Ashton C. Jones, Monroe H. Stockett, E. L. Bennett, W. D. Medley, Arthur Orr, Thomas R. Mechem, P B Nourse, Commander P. T. Wright, Thomas J. Crack, H. C. Roberts, L. C. McNemar, William C. Hull, Louis C. Carl and Harry A. Fellows.

hours, Miguel Maura, minister of the interior, declared that he and the president's other advisers are ready to maintain public order with an iron hand.

They want to grant freedom of the press, he said, but they will tolerate no seditious propaganda, and if there should be any the perpetrators will be heavily punished.

All night outside the council chamber the citizens of the republic howled their joy at the downfall of the monarchy. The palace guards disappeared from their posts, and republican civil guards took their places.

A statue of King Alfonso's grandmother, in a public square named in her hono, wars pulled down, dragged through the streets and hammered to pieces.

The cheering took in a new frenzy when it became known that Ramon Franco, picturesque hero of last December's unsuccessful revolution, was coming back this afternoon to the Cuatro Vientos Airport, whence he fled for his life less than four months ago. Already plans are afoot to give him a tremendous reception.

BRIDGE TOURNAMENT ATTRACTS BOTH SEXES

est in the forthcoming tourney as the men, and naturally they are talking much about it.

Thus far, the entries, which are coming in most satisfactorily and giving undoubted assurance of the success of the enterprise, are about evenly divided between the two sexes, and in many instances the teams are made up of two men and two women, so that it may easily happen that one or more of the principal trophies offered by The Washington Post will be won by a mixed team.

Also the committee on arrangements is highly pleased with the class of entrants, both from a social standpoint and also from their known prowess at the game, although many in their modesty have indicated a desire to participate in the intermediate divisions, both with respect to Contract and to Auction.

Since the announcement was tentatively made that the Auction series would be played during the afternoons of May 14 and 15 and on Saturday morning, May 16, some of the entrants have expressed the hope that a change may be made in this phase of the program which will permit them to participate at night.

May Readjust Schedule.

It has been pointed out that afternoon games will not be convenient for those who are employed during the daytime. Inasmuch as it is desired to afford an opportunity for these entrants to play when it is most agreeable for them to do so, the committee has taken the matter under advisement and will seek to arrange events which will meet the necessities of the situation. Further announcement upon this matter will be made later.

In the meantime entrants should rest assured that every effort will be made to comply with their wishes to the end that all may enjoy the tournament and be profited by it.

Remember the dates, May 14, 15 and 16, and the place the New Shoreham.

Barnes Acquitted Of Liquor Charge

County Court Holds Police Failed to Establish Intent to Sell.

George Barnes, of East Silver Spring, Md., arrested Saturday on charges of possession of liquor with intent to sell shortly after being acquitted of a charge of mnaslaughter in county police court, was acquitted yesterday by Judge Charles W. Woodward in police court at Rockville.

Barnes told the court he was taking the liquor home for his own consumption when stopped by Sergt. Guy L. Jones and Policeman Charles Barnes, of the Silver Spring substation, on Sligo avenue, a short distance from the place where his automobile fatally injured 3-year-old Wallace Miller a week previous.

Judge Woodward, contending that the policemen had not proved their charge of possession with intent to sell, as intent to sell had not been shown, dismissed the case.

Rule of Bourbons Is Ended; Zamora Once Warm Friend

Dynasty Restored in 1875 Falls as Alfonso XIII Flees Madrid.

(Associated Press.)

The Bourbon dynasty, dating from the reign of Philip V in 1700, was restored to the Spanish throne in 1875 with the ascension of Alphonso XII. In the intervening period the country had grown restless under a succession of monarchies and republics.

His first act was a royal decree proclaiming Canovas Del Catillo prime minister and setting up a strong administration which adopted a Catholic and conservative policy. After fifteen months of warfare against the Carlist forces, supporters of the former regime, opposition to the government was quelled and a short period of peace obtained.

However, the Cuban insurrection broke out anew and the government was forced to dispatch an expedition abroad, eventually inflicting peace by the sword. Internal troubles, meanwhile, beset the ruler and they resulted in the constitution of 1876, a compromise between the constitution of 1845 and that of the revolution of 1869.

Alphonso XII died in 1885, apparently leaving no male issue, and Queen Cristina became the acting monarch. Six months later, his posthumous son, Alphonso XIII, was born and a regency was established. Senor Sagasta became premier.

King Alphonso XIII assumed the throne in 1902 at 16 years of age. He married Princess Victoria Eugenie in 1903 and his wedding date was marred by an attempt on his life. Early in his reign he showed a disposition to think for himself and to be a king in fact as well as in name.

Throughout the years of his tenure King Alfonso was harassed by attempted assassinations and movements against the crown. He appointed Gen. Primo de Rivera prime minister in 1923 with the powers of a dictator, but even this did not stem the rising tide of republicanism. Only recently he restored constitutional privileges and provided for a parliamentary election program.

Former Loyal Supporter of King Now Holds Nation's Fate.

(Associated Press.)

Don Niceto Alcala Zamora once was a stanch Monarchist and a firm supporter of King Alfonso.

He turned against the king near the beginning of the dictatorship of Gen. Primo de Rivera in 1923, to avenge what he deemed a personal political insult by Gen. Rivera.

In his quest for satisfaction he spent the most of his personal fortune and became the most defiant of the Republican leaders. Arrested for his connection with the revolt of last December, he was only recently tried by a court-martial. From his cell, during the time he was under arrest, he continued for a time to conduct his campaign for a Spanish republic.

The court-martial sentenced him to six months' imprisonment on March 23 and on March 25 he was given his freedom on the condition that he refrain from antigovernment politics. On April 5 he predicted the establishment of a republic if the Monarchists were defeated in Sunday's elections.

Before Gen. de Rivera became dictator in 1923 Alcala Zamora had been a deputy in Parliament, secretary of the civil government in Madrid, undersecretary of finance and postmaster general. He had served in three cabinets. When Gen. de Rivera charged that the old-line politicians of Spain were factors in political corruption and useless appendages to public life, Alcala Zamora demanded satisfaction from King Alfonso, and when the king failed to give it he declared himself a Republican.

He is a brilliant orator and his powers were immediately used with effect by the antimonarchists as soon as Primo de Rivera fell from power and free speech and assembly rights were restored.

When he was arrested on December 14 for participation in the December revolt he defiantly told his captors, "Yes, I am one of the leaders of the revolt. I was to have been the first president of the Spanish republic."

He will be 54 years old on July 6.

vised by a best informed source, will be respected.

Since yesterday, the people had been expecting, but hardly daring to believe, that Alfonso would relinquish his throne. Spain had been a monarchy for 981 years, and they yet can not fully realize that the nation is now a republic.

There is a carnival atmosphere in Madrid tonight. The streets and boulevards are packed with cheering throngs waving republican flags. It is a beautiful night following a bright, clear spring day.

Some of the people waved red republican flags and pretty senoritas swung along in the crowd wearing red republican caps jauntily on their heads. Red jackets were popular. The marching, milling throngs sang the "Marseillaise," French national anthem born in the French Revolution. They seem to have adopted it until another republican anthen can be composed.

The celebrators are packed inside and on top of taxis, the streets are bedecked with garlands and bands are playing in the streets. It is nearly midnight, but the capital is wide awake and celebrating the end of the rule of kings.

HOWARD'S TRUSTEES LINE UP FOR JOHNSON

organ was played so that its music could be heard all over the campus. Others had taken charge of the bell and kept it clanging.

"Johnson for Howard, Howard for Johnson" had been proclaimed on signs placed all about the university grounds, and, in large letters, "Justice" had been painted on the sidewalk at the foot of the steps up which trustees had to go to get to their meeting room.

Dr. Johnson had been a target of criticism recently and there was some talk that he might be ousted because of some of his utterances. A mass meeting was held last night in the Garnet-Patterson School, at Tenth and U streets northwest. The meeting had been called with the purpose to protest against any action which might be taken against Dr. Johnson, but it was turned into a gathering of jubilation when friends and supporters of the university head were informed of the action of the trustees.

Decision of the trustees to support Dr. Johnson was said to have been unanimous. Gen. John H. Sherburne, of Boston, Mass., president of the board, issued a statement on behalf of the trustees in which it was declared that:

"The president of Howard University, in the five years he has filled the position, has shown a vision and a quality of leadership which can not be excelled.

Affirm Faith in Johnson.

"The trustees believe they have found in him a man capable of bringing Howard University to its goal; an institution of learning second to none, dedicated to the mental and spiritual advancement of Negro Americans.

"Certain statements have appeared in the public press which would seem to question the patriotism of the president of Howard University.

"These newspaper reports do not represent the opinions of the trustees and the educational community at Howard.

"The trustees of Howard University unhesitantingly affirm their faith in our president's loyalty to the American Government, and to the principals on which it is founded. He is carrying forward that work of thoughtful patriotism and service which has characterized Howard University for 64 years and which it is the inflexible purpose of the board of trustees to continue.

Three Members to Investigate.

"It is hereby voted that a committee of three members of this board be appointed who shall investigate the origin of ant contributing factors in these newspaper reports and that they return their findings to this board."

Identity of the thre meembers who shall make the investigation was not disclosed. Neither would members of the board, nor Dr. Johnson, make any comment beyond the formal statement issued by the board. The new trustees were elected in the course of the long meeting. They were Dr. Abram Flexner, former chairman of the general education board and George William Cook, former dean of the College of Commerce and Finance and secretary of the general alumni association. The latter was named as alumni trustee.

Disapproval recently expressed by Representative Will R. Wood, (Republican), of Indiana, chairman of the House appropriations committee, of purported statements by Dr. Johnson in the course of addresses failed to perturb the trustees, informal comments made after the meeting indicated.

MISS JESSIE DELL BACKS FLAG PLANS

Means Sane Patriotism, Says U. S. Civil Service Commissioner.

Miss Jessie Dell, member of the United States Civil Service Commission and highest-paid woman employe of the Government, strongly indorses the work of the United States Flag Association in her acceptance of a place on the jury of selection which is to pick two "envoys of friendship" at Central High School Auditorium Saturday morning at 11 o'clock. The two "envoys" are to be picked from the twelve children named last Saturday in the preliminary test of boys and girls entered in the good-will trip to Europe contest sponsored by the United States Flag Association with the cooperation of The Washington Post.

Miss Dell is a member of the jury of selection which will make the final awards and which includes men and women prominent in Governmental, social and educational ranks in the Capital. The jury is headed by William J. Cooper, United States Commissioner of Education, as chairman, and consists, in addition, of Miss Dell, Mrs. Henry H. Flather, social and Girl Scout leader; Harry King, president of the Washington Chamber of Commerce; Mrs. James Lansburgh, prominent in social and philanthropic circles; Dr. Cloyd H. Marvin, president of George Washington University; Mrs. George Mesta, social leader; the Rev. W. Coleman Nevils, president of Georgetown University; Mrs. John Jay O'Connor, social leader and philanthropist and a prominent figure in social work; William Tyler Page, author of "The American's Creed," and Dr. Luther H. Reichelderfer, chairman of the District of Columbia Board of Commissioners.

In accepting a post on this committee, Miss Dell wrote:

"I gladly accept the invitation of the executive board of the United States Flag Association to serve on the jury of selection whose important duty it shall be to select the boy and girl envoys of friendship who will represent the school children of Washington on the patriotic pilgrimage in this country and on the good-will trip to France and England.

"As one who is deeply interested in the youth of America I wish to express my unqualified approval of the sane and enlightened patriotism the United States Flag Association is evincing in making every effort to teach our boys and girls of today, in whose hands will be the America of tomorrow, the true meaning of patriotism. If the same kind of rational patriotism were inculcated into the childhood of all countries, it would, in my judgment, do much to create a universal friendship founded on confidence, tolerance and understanding that would do much to prevent future wars."

Twelve children, boys and girls, are on the anxious seat this week. Only two of them can be selected for this wonderful trip, with its high ideals, and each girl and boy is anxious to go. Once again, it must be stated that there are no plans or information on file at the Flag Association office, which will lead to the selection of any boy or girl. Whatever information has been at the disposal of the Flag Association has been published in The Washington Post. Eased upon their experience of last Saturday, it would be well for every contestant to brush up on patriotic subjects as well as personality and appearance, which will be a factor in the final selection.

While a few seats will be reserved for guests at the finals Saturday, the general run of the Central High Auditorium will be thrown open to the general public, which is invited to attend and witness the triumph of the two, one boy and one girl, selected to represent the schools of Washington on this trip.

WINNERS IN FLAG CONTEST

Four more finalists in The Post's "envoy of friendship" contest, in cooperation with the United States Flag Association. Upper, left—Ruth L. Jackson, of St. Paul's; right, Dorothy Skirm, Western; lower, left, Thomas J. Hayes, Western, and Alexander Van Keuren, jr., of St. Alban's. The remaining four finalists will be published tomorrow.

MONEY IS IDENTIFIED AS PAID ROWBOTTOM

bottom had used in making a $94 payment on an automobile.

Gresham Ayer, however, never obtained the job which his father and uncle testified was purchased from Rowbottom. Reports of postoffice peddling had become current and Benjamin Huffman, district chairman, made a trip to Washington. After he conferred with United States Senators James E. Watson and Arthur R. Robinson, the matter was turned over to the postal authorities. Four postmasters and a rural carrier later were dismissed and Rowbottom was indicted.

Other testimony was that $800 had been paid for the postmastership at Dale, Ind., with Otto Weilbrenner, postmaster at Mount Vernon, declaring he paid the $300 to Rowbottom in Evansville.

The first day of the trial moved rapidly. A jury was obtained within an hour and before the noon recess the Government made its opening statement and several witnesses hau been examined. The Government may complete its case by noon tomorrow.

The defense has about twelve witnesses, including the defendant. Attorneys expressed the opinion the case would reach the jury some time Thursday.

NEGRO PROGRESS LAID TO SCHOOLS

the race has multiplied its wealth more than 120 times, has reduced its illiteracy from 95 per cent to 20 per cent, and reduced its death rate by one-half. It has risen to the ownership of more than 750,000 homes; has accumulated property to the value of billions; has developed a far-reaching internal network of social, religious and economic organizations for the continued advancement of its people; has produced leadership in all walks of like that for faith, courage, devotion and patriotic loyalty ranks with all the other groups in our country.

"The greatest single factor in the progress of the Negro race has been the schools, private and public, established and conducted by high-minded self-sacrificing men and women of both races and all sections of our country, maintained by the States and by private philanthropy, covering the whole field of education from primary school through to college and university.

Credit Due to Schools.

"These public and private schools particularly under the leadership of Tuskegee and other universities and colleges have been the most effective agents in solving the problems created by the admission to citizenship of 4,000,000 former slaves without preparation for their new responsibilities.

"That such a revolution in the social order did not produce a more serious upheaval in our national existence has been due to the constructive influence exerted by these educational institutions, whose maintenance of further development is both a public and a private duty.

"The Nation owes a debt of gratitude to the wisdom and constructive vision of Booker T. Washington, the founder of Tuskegee. His conception of education, based fundamentally upon vocational and moral training, has been worthily continued by his able successor, Dr. R. R. Moton, who likewise deserves the gratitude of the Nation for his many contributions to the solution of one of our most difficult national problems. His ability and sanity and modesty have been powerful forces in progress and good will.

Problems Still Remain.

"We have still many problems to solve in this matter, and no section of our country is without its responsibility or without room for progress and improvement. I am convinced that there are within the Negro race, as the result of these institutions of which Tuskegee stands in the first rank, a body of men whose leadership and unselfishness can be depended upon to accomplish advancement and adjustment.

"A notable example of the proper spirit of approach in sane handling of these problems is that developed in our Southern States by the interracial commission. This movement developed in the area where problems of interracial adjustment are presented on a large scale has been represented in its leadership and direction by the best element of both races working in effective cooperation for the good of each and rendering valuable service to the whole country. Tuskegee Institute has greatly contributed to this movement. There can be no solution either in the communities or government that is not based upon sympathetic understanding and absolute justice.

"Tuskegee has thus made a notable contribution, not only to the day-to-day training of the members of its race for their part in the life of the Nation, but its leaders have made a higher contribution to the adjustment of interracial problems which must awaken the gratitude of the Nation."

Oyster Bill Signed By Gov. Ritchie

Law Prohibits Dredging for Bivalves in Waters of Potomac.

Special to The Washington Post.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., April 14.—Gov. Ritchie today gave his approval to the bill closing the waters of the Potomac River to oyster dredgers for an indefinite period, and also the measure providing for the State's part in the celebration of the bicentennial celebration of the birth of George Washington in 1932.

The oyster bill, part o fthe conservation department's legislative program, is designed to rehabilitate the industry. Virginia enacted concurrent legislation as the result of a series of conferences between officials of the Maryland Conservation Department and the Virginia Bureau of Fisheries. The beds of the Potomac, it was found, had become greatly depleted through constant dredging as well as tonging. Principal opposition to the Maryland bill came from watermen of Somerset County.

Maryland's part in the Washington Bicentennial is embodied in a joint resolution calling on the governor to appoint a commission. It also provides for observance of the Yorktown anniversary.

Two A. U. Units Given Association Approval

The Graduate School and the College of Liberal Arts of American University have been "approved" by the American Association of University Women, it was announced last night by Dr. George B. Woods, dean of the college, on his return from Boston, where he was on the program of the association's annual meeting.

Only 200 colleges and universities out of the total of more than 1,000 in the United States have been approved by the association, Dr. Woods explained. Mrs. George B. Woods was a delegate from the local Washington branch of the association to the Boston conference.

Mr. Jacobs succumbed in a Baltimore hospital where he was removed after receiving first aid. He was 68 years old. Survivors are the widow, Mrs. Elizabeth S. Jacobs, and two sons.

Bandit Is Buried In Potter's Field

Hayes, Killed in Marlboro Holdup, With Police and Kin Absent.

The body of Joseph Hayes, Chicago bandit, who was killed when he tried to hold-up a country bank, has been buried in the potter's field at the Prince Georges County almshouse, with neither police nor his relatives present.

His widow is being held by Washington police, with her 21-months-old son, but it is indicated that she will be released next Monday. She claims to have been ignorant of her husband's activities.

Hayes was killed in an attempted hold-up of the First National Bank of Southern Maryland in Marlboro last Thursday. Claude H. Owen, assistant cashier, ignored his commands to "Stick 'em up" and opened fire. The bandit's two companions escaped in a care driven, it is thought, by a beautiful red-haired woman. A general lookout has been sent out, but other clews have been run to earth without result.

Guardsman's Body To Be Buried Today

Harvey Noyes' Funeral Will Be Held in Petersburg.

Special to The Washington Post.

PETERSBURG, Va., April 14.—The body of Harvey L. Noyes, prominent local National Guardsman, who died in the United States Marine Hospital, Norfolk, arrived in Petersburg yesterday afternoon and was taken to the home of his brother, Herbert L. Noyes, Colonial Heights, where a military funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon.

The Rev. J. R. McAllister, chaplain of the First Infantry, National Guards, will officiate, and the Rev. D. T. Caldwell, pastor of Second Presbyterian Church, will assist. The Petersburg Grays, Company G, will escort the funeral party to Blandford Cemetery.

Mr. Noyes was taken ill last July, and has been in the hospital since. He enlisted in the United States Army in March, 1917, and received an honorable discharge from the service at the close of the World War. In 1919 he enlisted in the Petersburg Grays, and remained a member of that organization until his illness. He advanced to sergeant during his enlistment with the local company.

Hoover Urges Good-Will In Pan-American Address

The text of President Hoover's address at the special session of the Governing Board of the Pan-American Union yesterday follows:

Gentlemen of the Governing Board:

I am glad to be your guest at this special session of the Governing Board of the Pan-American Union, which you are holding in honor of Pan-American Day. I recently issued a proclamation, called upon our people to give this day due observance, and this proclamation has received general approval throughout the country. Exercises are being held at this time in public schools and universities and by civic organizations in every section of the Union. Pan-American Day will become an outward symbol of the constantly strengthening unity of purpose and unity of ideals of the republics of this hemisphere.

In the latter part of 1928, I had the privilege of visiting eleven of the countries of Latin America. This visit made a deep and lasting impression upon me. It was inspiring to observe, at first hand, not only the progress that Latin America is making along social, economic and cultural lines, but also the important part which the countries you represent are destined to play in world affairs. It was clear, too, that the nations of America have everything to gain by keeping in close touch with one another and by developing that spirit of mutual confidence which has its roots in a reciprocal understanding of national aims and aspirations.

Although each of the republics of this hemisphere possesses problems peculiar to itself, there are certain basic questions relating to democratic progress and social betterment common to us all and in the solution of which we can be most helpful to one another. This spirit of mutual helpfulness is the corner stone of true Pan-Americanism. The Pan-American Union not only symbolizes this spirit, but gives to it concrete expression in many practical and constructive ways.

It is of the greatest importance that the people of the United States become better acquainted with the history, the traditions, the culture and the ideals of the other republics of America. To an increasing extent, courses on the languages, literature and history of the nations of Latin America are being offered in the educational institutions of the United States. A similar realization of the importance of becoming better acquainted with the history and development of the United States exists in the countries of Latin America. Increasing numbers of students from the countries to the south are being enrolled in the colleges and universities of the United States. I can not emphasize too strongly this important aspect of inter-American relations. These cultural currents not only contribute to better international understanding, but also emphasize the essential unity of interest of the American republics.

Through the Pan-American Society and its branches established in different sections of the country, the importance and significance of the culture of the Latin American nations are being brought home to our people. We owe much to the unselfish men who have devoted so much time and energy to this work. The activities of the Pan-American Society admirably supplement the important work that is being done by the Pan-American Union.

A peculiarly heavy responsibility rests upon the nations of the Western Hemisphere: a responsibility which, at the same time, is a high privilege. Richly endowed by nature, we enjoy the great advantage of inhabiting a hemisphere free from the jealousies and antagonisms which have proved such obstacles to progress and prosperity in other sections of the world. We have developed an international system based on the principle of equality, combined with a full recognition of the obligations as well as the rights of states.

The American republics are today rapidly approaching the time when every major difference existing between them will be settled by the orderly processes of conciliation and arbitration. In this respect, the Western Hemisphere has placed an enviable record before the nations of the world. From the earliest period of their history, the governments of the republics of this hemisphere have been earnest advocates of the peaceful settlement of international disputes. They have demonstrated their willingness and even eagerness to adopt and apply mediation, conciliation and arbitration. The common purpose to eliminate war and the determination to achieve peace and security represent a major contribution of the Americas to modern civilization.

The full significance of this achievement is not always realized, for it carries with it heavy obligations to posterity. Future progress along these lines can only be assured through constant vigilance and by an unswerving determination to make the union of the American Republics, as now expressed in the Pan-American Union, an example to the world. We are not attempting in any way to develop a super-state, or to interfere with the freedom of action of any of the States, members of the Union, but rather to develop an atmosphere of good will—a spirit of cooperation and mutual understanding—in which any difference that may arise, no matter how important, will find a ready solution.

I cordially congratulate you, gentlemen of the Governing Board, on your happy initiative in establishing Pan-American Day and, at the same time, I send a message of fraternal greeting, in the name of the people of the United States, to all the inhabitants of our sister republics.

CONTRACT AWARDED FOR WATER SYSTEM

Council of Falls Church Gives Washington and Atlanta Firms Job.

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST.
P. O. Box 245, Fairfax, Va.
Phone Clarendon 2324-W-2.

The McCrary Engineering Co., of Washington and Atlanta, Ga., was awarded the contract to take charge of the installation of the municipal water system in the town of Falls Church on a basis of 5 per cent of the cost of the new construction at the last meeting of the Falls Church town council.

The engineering subcommittee of the joint committee of councilmen and citizens of the Falls Church water committee and representatives of the engineering company filed a detailed plan of the proposed new system. This plan calls for 67,000 feet of new mains and feeders, which, with the addition of approximately 5,400 feet of mains already laid in the Arlington County portion of the town, will insure water to practically every house within the corporate limits.

The total cost of the entire system is estimated on two sources of water supply. The first would be purchasing water from Arlington County and the second from deep wells. If the deep well system is used it was recommended that three ten-inch wells at least 300 feet deep be drilled, although one well with a flow of approximately 75 gallons per minute would probably take care of the present needs of the town except in case of emergencies. The cost of such a system would be approximately $105,201, of which $6,000 represents the cost of three wells and the necessary pumping equipment and $4,724 the engineering costs.

Exact Cost Is Uncertain.

If it is arranged so that the town mate mains can be connected with the Arlington County mains by means of a booster, the total cost was estimated to be $95,135. The exact cost of either installation can not be accurately fixed until the Arlington County authorities have indicated how much it intends to ask for the pipe lines laid in East Falls Church. It was stated that the same size and amount of pipe could be laid new by the town for $1.15 per foot.

Mayor Daniels stated that the town council and the Arlington County officials are working in harmony to effect the best solution of the water problem, but if Arlington County's needs are going to be such as to make the price of water prohibitive, the town will be forced to seek its own source. Arlington County Engineer C. L. Kinner has promised to give the town council the figures for the cost of the water not later than April 15, and in the meantime he has indicated that the cost to the town would be approximately 40 cents per 1,000 gallons.

It was stated at the meeting that there is some apprehension that Arlington County will have difficulty in meeting its own water needs during the coming summer, and the bond issue funds of Falls Church can not be legally used to lay new mains across the Potomac River into Arlington County.

Cost Varies With System.

If the deep-well system is used, the engineers estimated that the actual current cost of the water would be 3.6 cents per 1,000 gallons. With a 10 per cent depreciation allowance and an estimate of $1,200 per year cost of superintendence, the total cost of getting the water would not exceed 6 cents per 1,000 gallons on the basis of 100,000 gallons per day consumption. If the consumption were smaller, the cost the first year of operation would not be more than 10 cents per 1,000 gallons.

r:yu'ecrearomsgGbmNccsmetI55 c cm

The detail plans call for erection of a 200,000-gallon storage tank to be built on a 75-foot water tower on Great Falls street, so as to give adequate pressure throughout the town. The cost of laying the pipe line, of which there is to be 4,812 feet of 8-inch pipe, 47,408 feet of 6-inch pipe, 13,678 feet of 1½-inch pipe, 168 feet of 12-inch pipe for jackets under the railroad tracks, and the installation of 9 fire hydrants, was estimated at not more than $71,547.21. This expense will be necessary, no matter from what source the water is obtained.

Mayor L. P. Daniel informed the council that he had made application to the ground water division of the U. S. Geological Survey for assistance for the town in making a survey of the character and adequacy of the ground water supply in vicinity of the town with reference to geological conditions effecting a permanent supply of water.

Confer With Survey Party.

Conferences have been held by a survey party with the town water committee and Fred N. Hagan of Vienna, who drilled the wells for the Town of Fairfax and who has supplied the committee with a log of other wells drilled in or near Falls Church. It is probable that the government will make a report on the best sites for wells in the town sometime this week.

Representatives from the telephone and electric companies appeared before the council in connection with moving the poles on Washington street in the near future to allow for the widening of the highway by the State. They asked permission to move the pole line to the opposite side of the street from which it is now located. The council did not wish to grant this permission and instructed the two companies to interview individual property owners along the west side of the street and endeavor to get permission to set the present poles back four feet or more, as necessary. The council will take up this question at a recess meeting to be called by the mayor as soon as the two utilities companies and the highway commission have reached an agreement.

Ordinances Await Action.

Two ordinances, one controlling the cutting or opening of streets for laying pipe lines or similar purposes and the other controlling the closing of streets to traffic during repair or construction work, with the consequent necessary policing, were presented and will be acted upon at the called meeting.

Councilman Charles E. Gage asked the council to submit all the town's papers relating to the water bond issue as finally passed last Friday to a firm of bonding attorneys for approval before asking for competitive bids for the issue. The council postponed action until its next meeting.

At the request of the town school board the council voted to request Fairfax County Commissioner of Revenue James U. Kincheloe to extend the county school levy of 90 cents on the $100 valuation into the Fairfax County portion of town in accordance with the ruling handed down by Attorney General John Sanders in April, 1929.

At tonight's joint concert given by F. Flaxington Harker, organist, and Winston Wilkinson, violinist, assisted by Mrs. Charles King, contralto, of Richmond, the program was opened with Handel's overture, "Athalia," and was followed with selections including the choral prelude, "From God I Will Not Turn," and Gigue, from an "Unfinished Suite."

BAKER HELD TO JURY FOR WIFE'S MURDER

Man Is Nervous at Inquest; Auto Driver Freed in Barbee Death.

Albert C. Baker, 50 years old, who confessed to police that he killed his wife, Mrs. May Baker, on April 2, yesterday was held for the grand jury by a coroner's jury.

Detective Sergeant George Darnell told the jury of Baker's confession of the shooting of his wife in his basement apartment on O street near Eighth street northwest. Policeman Clarence B. Wood, of the Second Precinct, testified that Baker's son, Victor, had told him that his father shot his mother.

Baker, haggard from his 13-day flight from the police, was nervous when Darnell narrated the detail of his confession.

The jury gave a verdict of accidental death and absolved William F. Robinson, 29 years old, colored, of all blame in the death of Mrs. Mary Barbee, who was fatally injured in an accident Monday at Sixteenth and U streets northwest. Robinson is a chauffeur for Alfred P. Thom, general counsel for the Association of Railway Executives.

Failing electric wires hampered firemen, but flames were confined to the Hockman Building. The combined loss was about $5,000, partly insured. It was Sullivan's second fire damage in a week, an insecticide plant near here burning down recently.

This Woman In 4 Weeks Lost 17 Pounds of Fat

Here's a letter written October 21, 1929, by Mrs. Fred Barringer of Lewistown, Montana, that ought to be read by every overweight woman in America.

"Gentlemen: I started taking Kruschen every morning as directed as I was very much overweight and wanted to reduce.

I had tried going on a diet but would get so hungry that my diet would not last long, so I decided to give 'Kruschen Salts' a fair trial. The day I started to take them I weighed 256 lbs. and at present, which has been just four weeks, I weigh 239 lbs. And I must say, I feel better in every way, besides looking much better. Kruschen Salts had a decided effect upon the quantity of food I took and stimulated my desire to greater activity.

"May all large people, both men and women, who want to reduce in an easy way, give Kruschen Salts a fair trial. I am sure it will convince anyone."

A bottle of Kruschen Salts that lasts four weeks costs but 85c at any drugstore in America. Take one half teaspoon in a glass of hot water before breakfast every morning. To help reduce swiftly cut out pastry and fatty meats and go light on potatoes, butter, cream and sugar.

The Kruschen way is the safe way to reduce—Try one bottle and if not joyfully satisfied—money back. Peoples Drug Store knows all about Kruschen.—Adv.

This much you'll admit:

That automatic oil heating equipment has brought heating up to the same modern level of comfort you already have in other details in your home. Your telephone, your electric appliances, your modern bathroom—you no longer consider them luxuries. Nor are the modern comforts of automatic oil heat so considered today.

This much you'll learn:

That oil heat actually costs less to operate. . . . That in the home that is heated automatically with oil, not so much as an ounce of fuel is consumed when the house is warm enough. . . . That the experience of more than one-half million users clearly shows that the effortless and economical way to heat your home is with oil.

AD CONTEST NEARS END OF FIRST WEEK

Post-Zain Competition Will Enter Second Tomorrow; Fans Growing Daily.

Tonight is the night.

All amateurs' ads in the Post-Zain Ad Writing Contest must be in the mails before midnight in order to be eligible for the first week's judging, beginning tomorrow.

Of course you have six more weeks to get into the contest, six weeks in which prizes of equal value will be distributed. But there is no reason why you couldn't write an ad today, and get in at the start.

Advertising experts appointed to our board of judges will pass the better part of tomorrow in going over the most likely first week's entries, and Friday morning the whole town will know who the first week's winners are.

Week's Winner Gets $100.

First of all, the winner of the $100 cash award for the best ad written in the first seven days, will be announced. But there will be 175 additional who will receive merchandise awards, five from each of the 35 advertisers cooperating with the Post in the contest. Special awards have been announced by some of the advertisers. The grand prize of $1,000, for the best ad submitted in the entire contest, will not be announced until six weeks hence.

If your amateur ads are just a little bit late in reaching the contest editor, they will not be wasted. Automatically they will be considered in the second period of the contest, beginning tomorrow.

Remember the same prizes are awarded every week. Try again if you were not as successful as you thought you might have been in the first period. And if it turns out you were a winner, don't be satisfied with your prize. There is no limit to the number you can win in the contest. One prize doesn't disqualify you from winning others.

Everybody Writing Ads.

Everybody is writing amateur ads these days. If you haven't, you should try one. You will find it so much fun that you will probably end by writing amateur ads about all of the 35 cooperating advertisers whose names are published elsewhere in this paper. A number of fans are following the contest editor's suggestion and holding Post-Zain parties, entertaining the guests they have in for the evening with a miniature amateur ad-writing contest, selecting the best ads and sending them in to The Post.

Don't forget to write your ads on a piece of paper about twice the size of a post card, placing the name of the firm you are advertising in the upper left-hand corner. Write each ad on a separate piece of paper, and on the reverse side write your name and address and telephone number. Put your name and address also on the envelope you mail in. Of course you can place as many ads as you want in each envelope.

Should Remember Slogans.

It would be well to remember that Goldsmith & Co., jewelers, at 1225 F street northwest, stresses "57 Years of Reliability" in much of its advertising.

E. J. Murphy Co., Inc., paint dealers, should prove a promising subject for an ad at this season of the year. "Saving and Serving You," is the motto of the Home Laundry, another one of our advertisers.

Moth protection is guaranteed in the storage vaults of the Merchants Transfer & Storage Co., "The House of Safetey." And Fairfax Farms Dairies, Inc., just now is placing emphasis on its "Special Hi-Test Jersey Milk."

RULES FOR CONTEST

1—$10,000 in prizes to be distributed over seven weeks of amateur ad writing.

2—$1,000 in cash will be given for the best ad written by an amateur during the entire Post-Zain ad-writing campaign. To compete for this prize it will be necessary for contestants to write at least one ad about each of the 35 firms participating in the ad contest.

3—Grand weekly award of $100 will be given each week for the best ads during six periods of the ad-writing contest.

4—Five merchandise prizes for each of the 35 concerns will be given weekly during six weeks of the campaign.

5—Ads for the first week of the Post-Zahn ad-writing campaign must be received prior to noon, Wednesday, April 15.

6—Ads submitted in competition for the grand award of $1,000 must be received prior to midnight, May 27.

7—Any one anywhere may compete for the prizes with the exception of newspaper employes and members of the advertising profession.

8—There are no obligations. No coupons to clip, no entrance fees to pay, no subscriptions to buy. One person may submit as many ads as he chooses. The more ads you write, the more prizes you may receive. The Post-Zain ad-writing contest may be entered at any time. Ads may be written about one or all concerns.

9—Write your ideas on one side only of a sheet of paper at least twice the size of a postcard. Place the name of the concern about which you are writing in the upper left-hand corner of the page. Place your own name and address, also telephone number, on the reverse of the advertisement and the envelope. Your contribution may be a slogan, a poem, a regular advertisement, a letter of testimonial, or an essay.

10—Winning advertisements will be selected by a committee of advertising experts. In the event of a tie, awards will be made to both.

11—All advertisements received become the property of the concerns about which they are written.

Ad-Writing Suggestions.

Prizes are given for ideas, not for grammar, spelling, punctuation, art work or layout.

Your ideas are likely to be new and original; your idea may win one or more prizes.

If you are not familiar with the advertisers about whom you are asked to write ads, study their service and merchandise; visit their shops, ask questions, and then jot down your ideas simply. Be brief and to the point.

If you can write a letter, you can write an ad. Get members of your family and your friends interested. Encourage them to write winning ads.

AIRPLANE DEVOTEES JOIN AD-WRITING CONTEST

Passengers and crew of one of the giant air liners of the Eastern Air Transport Co. were suprised yesterday by a Post photographer while they were writing amateur ads for the Post-Zain contest, before they hopped off for New York from Washington Airport.

They want their entries to reach the Post-Zain Amateur Ad Writing Contest Editor before midnight tonight, so they can be considered in the first week's judging, commencing tomorrow. The ad written by Miss June Westwood, one of the hostesses assigned to every plane leaving the field, is printed below.

Amateur ad fans, as they appear left to right in the picture, are C. G. Cross, F. Rothrock, Pilot E. H. Parker, H. S. Wychoff, Copilot S. T. Jacobs, Miss Westwood, hostess for the plane; Miss E. Davis, hostess for the airport and B. W. Dudley.

Miss Westwood chose Wilkins Coffee to write about. Her ad is as follows:

> WILKINS COFFEE
> Coffee of a blend that gives to your mealtime new luxury that you can not afford to deprive yourself of. It's just wonderful. Washingtonians' favorite drink.

11 AMERICANS ARE REPORTED SLAIN BY NICARAGUAN REBELS

cause of similarity with other names, the names would not be checked with State Department passport records.

They were reported missing in the vicinity of Logtown, some 30 miles from the port.

Col. Dufour appealed twice to State Department officials to protect his company's property, valued at $13,000,000. He said unless protected by American forces his company "must abandon it to the insurgent forces."

Meanwhile, he said, his company had been asked to keep two of its ships ni the harbor to evacuate the 300 Americans who had taken refuge on the wharves or on vessels in the harbor.

Francis White, Assistant Secretary of State for Latin-American affairs, said the forces would remain ashore only long enough to assure safety of Americans and that American troops would be withdrawn as soon as the guardia had the situation in hand.

Evacuation Arrangements.

Arrangements were made to evacuate all Americans to the Asheville or the Standard Fruit & Steamship Co.'s vessel Cefalu, now in Puerto Cabezas Harbor, on which many already had taken refuge.

Up to the time the authority to land forces was sent, Puerto Cabezas was defended only by civil outposts, made up largely of volunteer employes of the Standard company, and these were unable to defend all approaches.

There had been a detachment of Nicaraguan guardia, totaling 43 officers and men, at the port prior to the outbreak of insurgent attacks Saturday. All except one officer and a few men had been sent, however, on patrols into the interior.

The situation of the patrols was regarded as precarious. Some were known to be surrounded by superior insurgent bands, well armed.

A force of Guardia marching to the relief of the port was reported descending the Coco River from the west, but was still 24 hours distant. Meanwhile, other insurgent bands were converging on the city, by the Coco River and also by the Pis Pis trail, the outlet of the mining area west of the port.

Insurgent Bands Moving.

Reports to the Navy Department indicated the insurgents moving against Puerta Cabezas were the same as those which have been operating for years in the northwestern regions against the Nicaraguan government.

One of their leaders, Blandon, was identified leading a band at Moss Farm, near Logtown, 50 miles northwest of Puerto Cabezas.

Sandino, leader of the insurgent forces, and Pedron, one of his chief lieutenants, were reported moving eastward in the converging activity. Blandon's group was known to consist of about 60 men, each with a rifle and ammunition.

This band had a 37-milometer gun and two Lewis machine guns. Blandon has boasted that he would have 350 followers shortly. Recruits from the farms in the surrounding country, the report said, were joining the insurgents.

It would cost $2,250 to send postcards to all the readers that can be reached any morning by Post Classified Ads.

Rigel 10,000 Times More Bright Than Is Our Sun

Mount Wilson, Calif., April 14 (A. P.)—If the glare of the spring-time sun on the pavement irritates the eyes, don't be downhearted.

Things could be worse—the sun isn't so bright after all.

Dr. Walter S. Adams, director of the Carnegie Institution of Washington Observatory here, will tell you it has been measured and found to be 3,000,000,000,000,000,000,000,000 candlepower.

That's a lot of candle-power, and the brightest electric arc looks like a black spot when seen against the sun's disk. But there are millions of stars much brighter.

For instance, in the cool of the night one should look at Rigel, in the constellation of Orion, and contemplate how beautiful it seems.

The sun goes into the shade in comparison with Rigel, for that brightest star in Orion is at least 10,000 times as bright as our sun.

Fortunately for the people on earth, Rigel is not where the sun is, a mere 93,000,000 miles from the earth, for there would be no living here then.

Rigel is so far away that it takes its light more than 300 years to reach the earth, while the light of the sun makes the journey in about eight and a half minutes.

And Canopus, famous star of Egypt, is still brighter.

SPAIN TURNS REPUBLICAN.

With all the dramatic suddeness of a Latin-American coup d'etat King Alfonso has abdicated, following Sunday's demonstration of republican strength at municipal elections, and a provisional president is at the head of a new government in Spain. It is impossible to escape the irony of the situation. A king whose right of succession came down through the centuries from a long list of royal ancestors is displaced at the demand of a republican group whose only claim to power was a victory at the polls in the municipal elections. The republicans did not even wait for an expression of the national will in the proposed provincial and national elections.

The issue, of course, was plainly drawn between the modern trend in Spain toward democracy as opposed to the monarchical system. More particularly the campaign of the republicans, who are 90 per cent socialists, was aimed at the king because he had imposed six years of dictatorship upon the country, suppressing the Cortes and severely restricting civil rights. The proud and independent spirit of the Spaniard at last rebelled against the system which denied Spain a representative government.

Alfonso stepped down from his throne to save Spain from revolution and bloodshed. The ultimatum of the republican leaders left him only the alternatives of abdication or revolution. The temper of his people and the strength of the advanced movement must have been evident to the king, who was credited with being one of the most astute rulers of Europe. He failed, however, to realize the scope of the demand among his people for popular government. Restoration of civil rights at the end of the dictatorship of Gen. Primo de Rivera might have satisfied appeals for liberalization of the government. When granted by the king's message from London a few weeks ago they came too late.

It is not hard to believe that the Spanish people may take to republican form of government much more readily than many others have done. They have never been servile subjects, but always maintained a degree of independence in their relations with their sovereign. It was this spirit that was particularly irked in these modern days by the crushing force of the dictatorship. Alfonso, wise and intelligent as he was in many ways, pays the penalty of failure to realize the just aspirations of a proud and noble race in an advancing world for freedom and the rights of popular expression.

It remains to be seen whether the republicans are sufficiently united to form a stable government. It is easier to destroy a government than it is to replace it with something better. Communists are lurking in the background of the republican movement and they may be expected to strike for anarchy if an opportunity is presented. It is by no means certain that the sacrifice of King Alfonso will save Spain from political chaos and bloodshed.

WHY BLAME UNCLE SAM?

As time passes and a better perspective is secured upon the industrial depression two facts begin to emerge with greater clarity. One is that the beginning of the decline considerably antedates the stock market crash of October, 1929, and the other is that both the causes and effects of the economic crisis were so world-wide that they were quite beyond the remedy of American legislation.

The earlier months of 1929 were not without warnings from both financiers and economists, but in the great wave of continuously soaring prices they received scant heed. Among the expert market manipulators and amateurs in speculation the first convincing evidences of disaster came with the collapse in Wall street. Checking up eighteen months after the big crash it is not difficult to figure today that upon the basis of overinflated capitalizations many concerns would not have been able to make favorable showings last year even if good times had continued. The difficulties in which various industries find themselves now are not all due by any means to what has happened since that fatal October. Their troubles had really begun while they were riding the high waves of the earlier months and years. Duplication of production units and over-capitalization had begun to minimize returns upon investment.

Since the universal character of the depression has become evident the hopelessness of trying to remedy it by act of Congress is also apparent. The sentiment of the country is opposed to intrusion of the Government into business and yet Congress and officials are constantly being asked to assume the responsibilities of private enterprise.

The Government is not a national life-saving device. There is no reason why we should expect either the President or Congress to manufacture a panacea for maladjustments in the business and industrial world. A long-range view of the depression emphasizes the necessity for more thinking and planning on the part of business men.

PAN-AMERICA.

Mutual helpfulness was the keynote of President Hoover's Pan-American Day address. Twenty-one Latin-American republics share with the United States the great continents which stretch like a pair of wings almost from pole to pole. Each has its own traditions and aspirations. But the welfare of one is inextricably bound up with the welfare of the others. In rounding out their national destiny the American republics ought to be mindful of their international responsibility as well as their national rights.

The Pan-American Union is an organization of equal states brought together to promote their mutual interests and to facilitate the settlement of disputes among them by peaceful means. The United States has no desire to dominate the rest of the western world. Ever since the Monroe Doctrine was enunciated it has been the policy of this Government to defend other American nations from outside invaders. It is the sincere hope of the American people that Latin-American nations will strengthen their independence, that they will progress economically, and take their place in the world as great national units. The language of President Hoover may be taken as an expression of the national sentiment in this country—

> We are not attempting in any way to develop a superstate or to interfere with the freedom of action of any of the states members of the union, but rather to develop an atmosphere of good will—a spirit of cooperation and mutual understanding—in which any difference that may arise, no matter how important, will find a ready solution.

While all North and South America were celebrating Pan-American Day an insurgent revolt was under way in Nicaragua. Gen. Sandino, the rebel leader, has virtually declared war on the United States Marines in that country. Sandino has taken advantage of Nicaragua's distress resulting from the destruction of its capital by earthquake, and his representatives declare that he will not lay down his arms until the Marines have been driven out.

The Pan-American ideal of mutual helpfulness has seldom been more effectively illustrated than in the recent quake disaster. American Marines were perhaps the most important single factor in relieving distress, rescuing the wounded, caring for the dead and protecting property from looters. In recognition of this service, Sandino begins a guerrilla campaign for their extermination.

The United States would be false to its ideals if it abandoned this helpless country to the ravages of a rebel band in its hour of distress. Nicaragua's people appreciate the services of the Marines. Only through their aid has the country been able to avert revolution and possibly intervention by European countries. The policy of the United States in Nicaragua has been falsely represented to some of the Latin-American countries. It is to be hoped that a greater degree of understanding will be applied to this and similar problems as a result of the Pan-American rapprochement.

VITAMINES IN CANS.

The delicatessen bride is vindicated in her devotion to the can opener. The vitamin content of no less than 49 varieties of canned food has been scientifically tested and found to be ample. The experiments covered all kinds of foods, from milk and meats through the list of vegetables and fruits to apple sauce, brown bread, spaghetti and plum pudding.

The tests were made on rats and guinea pigs, and covered a year. Since a year in a rat's life is the equivalent of a quarter of a century for humans, it is plain how exhaustive the experiments were upon both professors and rats, and how pleasing it was to find that ancient year-old rats came out of the tests in better shape and more belligerent than others that had been on a selected diet of fresh foods. Prof. Eddy, the investigator, considers this ample vindication of the honeymoon tinned menu.

These statements were made to no less important a body than the American Chemical Society. So they may be considered official. It was also reported by an investigator of the South Carolina Food Research Commission that the oysters taken off South Carolina contain sufficient iron, copper and manganese to retard development of nutritional anemia. You can take your choice. An even more encouraging development explained to the 2,000 delegates at the chemical society meeting was that experiments demonstrated that varnish could be made successfully from sugar. This will please Louisiana and Cuba, and may lead to the test of our own modest suggestion that some combination of the surplus rubber and wheat might make ideal paving material.

CHINA MUST MAKE GOOD.

Negotiations between China and the world powers over extraterritoriality have reached a temporary deadlock. Dr. C. T. Wang, Chinese minister of foreign affairs, failed to move the foreign delegates by his logic, so he resorted to making a passionate appeal to the Chinese public. He threatens to break off the negotiations unless the United States, Great Britain, Japan and France yield to the National government's demands.

China has nothing to gain and everything to lose by allowing the negotiations to end in a deadlock. The right of the United States and other nations to maintain courts in China for trial of their nationals will not be relinquished until the National government establishes adequate safeguards for the protection of foreigners. It appears that the Chinese government is unwilling to do that. Dr. Wang is in no position to adopt an arbitrary attitude. It has been only a few months since all China was involved in civil war. Even now the government is engaged in a campaign to eradicate Communist hordes which infest many provinces, and rumblings of new feuds among the war lords are heard.

A few months ago the National government declared that all extraterritorial rights were abolished. But the decree did not interfere with the operation of the foreign courts. It was intended to appease the popular sentiment against foreigners. Such grandstand plays have no effect upon the governments claiming extraterritorial rights. If the National government is obstinate in refusing to establish administrative and judicial safeguards against the abuse of foreigners, it will only delay the date of termination of the treaties that are so objectionable to China.

BASEBALL AGAIN.

An enthusiastic crowd came out of long hibernation yesterday and shouted an uproarious welcome to the return of baseball. The opening of the annual pennant race is always a festive occasion, but the events of yesterday seem to have been endowed with special significance. Perfect weather brought out an immense crowd, including the President, his Cabinet and dozens of other distinguished guests. The majesty of baseball overshadowed all other events of the day, and details of the first skirmishes within the big leagues were carried by radio to every hamlet in the Nation.

Few other sounds are more delightful to the ear of the average American than the clack of hickory on horsehide. No other game touches so intimately the lives of the people. Baseball makes all the country akin. For a few glorious hours the interests of the President, the white-collared clerk and the urchin from the sandlot are mutual. National problems are forgotten, personal worries are put aside, and the woe of the world gives way to intense excitement over the clubbing of a ball and the maneuvers to keep it from being clubbed.

The opening game at Griffith Stadium held special interest because it inaugurated a struggle for the American League pennant between the two teams which loom up at this early date as the strongest contenders. Washington has high hope for the Nationals. The fact that the world-champion Athletics were able to take first honors only after eleven innings presages a close race for the pennant. At any rate, baseball is here again, adding its usual zest to the life of thousands of devotees.

No one could accuse Chairman Raskob of failure to provide for Miss Democracy, but Jim Reed thinks that incompatibility is sufficient grounds for divorce.

PRESS AND DIPLOMACY

From the Christian Science Monitor.

Modern nations have instituted what is known as open diplomacy. They have a free press. It would seem at first sight, therefore, that all negotiations of an international character should be public, and that it is the function of the press to give publicity to those negotiations. If the statesmen lapse into secrecy, should not the press reveal their private talks? Should not the press, when it discloses facts, be congratulated on its alertness?

The answers to these questions are not so simple as would appear. For open diplomacy does not mean that the statesmen should dispute in the market place. It does not mean that when they and their experts are engaged in the study of figures on which a compromise may be based they should be constantly deafened by the cries of the crowd. Accommodations imply mutual concessions; an agreement often can be reached only by sacrifices on either side. Now an accord is, in some circumstances, such an advantage that it greatly overweighs the disadvantages it may impose on the parties. When it is completed it should be openly announced, openly examined, openly criticized, openly accepted or rejected.

But usually it would never be reached at all if, at each stage of the conversations, tentative proposals and unrelated circumstances were disclosed and held up for national reprobation. In this kind of reporting the advantages of accord are lost sight of. Public opinion in each country can easily be stirred by a recital of concessions secretly being made, and a promising agreement which has undoubted benefits may be wrecked.

Therefore, open diplomacy should not exclude private negotiations, and a free press should not necessarily apply itself to the ferreting out of secrets at inopportune moments. When international affairs are delicately balanced, the negotiators should be allowed considerable discretion. They should not be subjected to outbursts of national passion. There will be plenty of time to repudiate their work afterward if they really go wrong, but the opportunity should be afforded them of reaching conclusions and presenting the case for them.

Such seem to be the ethics of so-called open diplomacy and of a so-called free press. But this code, which has never been authoritatively formulated, is continually broken. On the navy question probably half a dozen instances of mischief-making by premature revelations could be discovered. And when France and Italy were at last on the eve of making an arrangement which, on the whole, is fairly satisfactory for both countries and to the rest of the world, sudden alarm was created by the partial disclosures of one extremely able journalist. Had the statesmen not acted with remarkable rapidity, the prospect of an accord would have been lost.

It is time, therefore, to get this matter of privacy and publicity in international affairs straight. One can not blame a particular journalist for ability in his profession. He may genuinely believe he is rendering a service to his country in revealing and attempting to destroy a project which comports concessions, inimical in his eyes, to the interests of his country. By the existing journalistic code he is commended. The question is whether the existing code is good.

Not enough attention has been paid to this problem of publicity in the new conditions of public diplomacy. It may be impossible to lay down hard-and-fast rules. It may be that, in the last resort, it is a problem of conscience whose answer can not be given by any one save the individual journalist. And yet, when one thinks of the possible consequences of untimely revelations which stir up public passions and jeopardize good relations, one feels that some greater effort should be made by competent persons to formulate guiding regulations for the proper conduct of international negotiations and of the attitude toward those negotiations of responsible newspapers and newspaper men.

POST HASTE.

Possibly Mayor Cermak's trip to Florida is to investigate Al Capone's other happy home.

There has been no report so far as to how Democrats are lining up in Mr. Raskob's poll on prohibition home rule, but there's no doubt as to how they are lining up on the issue of Raskob.

Last week the women drys demanded retention of prohibition to preserve the home; this week the women wets will demonstrate the evils of homes pickled by prohibition.

Does advertising pay? A recent $50,000 prize cigarette contest brought 1,500,000 answers. If $100,000 more was spent advertising the event the total cost would be 10 cents for each answer. How else could the careful consideration of an article be secured from so many persons so cheaply?

The Portuguese republic is having a revolution; so is Spain. South American offspring are saying: Like son, like father.

Of course, prohibition is not political. It just divides the population into parties, the parties into factions, the country into sections.

Jim Reed is getting into the campaign with his caustic criticism so early that he may require two sidecars to carry his delegates to the next Democratic convention.

Bandit bullets for Marines in Nicaragua indicate that gratitude for helping stricken countrymen has been overcome by resentment of regulations against looting.

King Alfonso said he would not leave Spain, but since Spain left him he can now run for president, France or Portugal.

Wyoming's former governor, Mrs. Ross, pronounces doom upon the Democratic party. She says: "Our only hope lies in unity."

Mr. Shouse tells California that "you will find people in different parts of the country arguing from exactly different viewpoints what the President really thinks." He and Raskob ought to get together and read some of the President's statements in plain English.

There is a movement on to limit pleasure cars in some down-town districts. The pleasure has been limited for some time. P. H.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

LITTLE SEAMSTRESS.

Who wants a seamstress eight years old,
Who plies a needle in and out
And makes her stitches neat and stout
And puts on buttons so they'll hold,
And makes of silken pinks and browns
For dolls the prettiest evening gowns?

Who wants a seamstress who can take
A bit of printed calico
And cut and fashion it and sew,
And out of it pajamas make
For Teddy bears to wear about
Week-ends when they're invited out?

Who wants gay coats for dogs and cats
And wooly creatures large and small?
Miss Janet here can fit them all
And dress them in the cutest hats:
She'll fashion everything they need
And all her work is guaranteed.

She threads a needle with dispatch,
Her seams are folded in beneath,
She cuts the stitch ends with her teeth!
For any seamstress she's a match!
That is, by mother I've been told,
For any one just eight years old!

Those Who Teach Us Serve Less Than Those Who Help Us Forget.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

YOU may preach at the world and get a living; you may scold it, without bitterness, and win a small fortune; but learn to entertain it and you can write your own terms in the contract.

Does it seem unreasonable that Warner Brothers should pay Ruth Chatterton $750,000 a year—that Will Rogers should get $800,000 a year for making pictures and almost a third as much for his writings—that "Babe" Ruth should be paid $80,000 for a little over five months of ball playing—that Tunney should have a million dollars in return for a few minutes of boxing?

Nothing could be more reasonable or more just.

The world pays to be entertained, and who should have the money if not the man who provides the entertainment?

In olden times the entertainer earned little because few could hear him. Now the press, the cinema and the radio provide an audience of millions.

The modern pays less for his entertainment than ever man paid before, but the pittance he contributes is multiplied by millions. The new system collects a fortune for somebody, and who deserves it more than the entertainer?

The minstre and the clown have their just reward. They are paid in proportion to the number they serve. If they receive more than men of other callings, it is because they earn more.

A merry laugh, says the wisest of books, doeth good like a medicine. Entertainers are physicians.

Do you realize why the world pays so much and so eagerly for its entertainment? Because it is tired after the day's work; because it has sorrows and troubles to forget; because it must by some means escape, if only in fancy and only for an hour, from the hard realities that burden and depress it.

Surely the moral is obvious.

"If any man can play the pipes, in God's name let him play."

If you would have a great career, entertain the world.

If you would be rich, help the world to forget.

And, finally, if you would be popular; if you would attract friends; if you would be sought after and made successful in any calling, hide your woes and radiate the good cheer the world so greatly covets and so eagerly buys.

PRO AND CON

Press Comment Upon Acts and Actors in the Great American Show, "Politics."

Political Friendships.
Topeka Capital.

A cynical English statesman politician a few years ago attracted attention by declaring that "there are no friendships in politics." Perhaps they are rare, but some rare friendships have been memorable in politics. No warmer tribute straight from the heart has been paid the late Speaker Longworth than that from his titular enemy, Garner of Texas, leader of the minority. Their personal attachment was famous, recalling that of the Republican Senator Edmunds of Vermont and the Democratic Thurman of Ohio in a former generation. When Senator Hill of Georgia died it was Ingalls of Kansas whose tribute to his character and worth was as heartfelt as it was a classic of senatorial eloquence. And the two opposing nominees for Vice President in 1928, Curtis and Robinson, were for many years and are fervent friends. "Politics makes strange bedfellows," according to a proverb. It has its cordial personal friendships, which cut across party lines frequently, as in these instances.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Airplane Roaring and Radio Racket Fill Homes With Noise—"Sound Garbage" Resented.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Another nuisance is developing to bedevil the helpless public—airplane flying at low altitudes is swamping the city with noise in the evenings. I call your attention to the following article in the New York Herald Tribune:

"Gina Lombroso has just written a book called 'Tragedies of Progress.' One of the most ghastly tragedies, which Miss Lombroso failed to mention, is the discovery that it is possible to pour noise out of an airplane and flood a city with it. Broadcasting from the air, it seems to us, is an unmitigated nuisance; if the police have power to stop the blare of loud-speakers which can not be heard a block away, they surely have the right to stop a winged monster which, from a height of 2,500 feet, pours its ugly racket into scores of streets.

"The manager of the corporation which exploits these noisy pests assured the police, when Dr. Christian Reisner complained of one of them, that his pilots had strict orders to avoid churches and hospitals. Nonsense! As well tell an automobile to drive through the city without passing such buildings. The city is sprinkled with them; they can not be avoided."

Another unmitigated pest is private radio. As summer approaches I dread this nuisance. I must keep my windows open or perish, and through the open windows comes a perfect torrent of sound—garbage from nearby radios. The paper says:

"A time may come when even private radios will be far more strictly policed and controlled than they are today. A single home radio blaring into a row of quiet back yards may be even more destructive to city nerves than a commercial machine competing with automobile traffic and the roar of the Elevated. Such regulation, however, may require preliminary education; there can be no dispute about the pestiferous character of noise machines pouring their ugliness out of the heavens into street and yard with utterly indiscriminate intrusion and vulgarity."

Has the public no rights to peace in the home? J. P. HARMER.

Tribute to Dr. John A. Foote and His Work for Child Health.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Published biographical sketches have reminded the American public of the national and international honors and responsibilities which were heaped upon the shoulders of John A. Foote during a lifetime of arduous service to his fellow man, but many of those whom he has most directly benefited and who will, in years to come, reap the full measure of his healing skill are today unconscious of the loss which they sustained when their wise health counselor was laid to rest in Holy Rood Cemetery.

Dr. Foote was one of the foremost pediatric specialists of his time. His pen was prolific and forceful in the cause of child welfare through the education of parents. The influence of his sage advice is being felt throughout Latin America now and is destined to increase with time as his precepts are more widely disseminated through education in hygiene.

First and foremost, Dr. Foote was an apostle of preventive medicine, for while he inspired confidence and brought comfort to anxious parents when their loved ones were stricken, his greatest achievements lay in the direction of authoritative instruction for the upbuilding of sturdy young bodies capable of resisting the onslaughts of epidemics and the ravages of insidious infection.

Hundreds of Washington children today are enjoying the advantages of rugged constitutions because of the beneficent counsels of this modest, indefatigable man of science who gave without stint of his own time and energy for their good. It may truly be said of him that he saved others, himself he would not spare.

Only the generation of today appreciates what the generation of tomorrow owes to that outstanding protagonist of child health, John A. Foote. R. A. G.

Democrat Objects to Bolters of 1928 Telling Mr. Raskob to Resign.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The gross inconsistency of the leaders of that organization which has mislabeled itself the "National Woman's Democratic Law Enforcement League," is so apparent it is surprising that any thinking person would care to be affiliated with it. Take, for instance, the statements recently issued by its president, Mrs. Nicholson, and its first vice president, Mrs. Shaver, demanding the resignation of the chairman of the Democratic national committee.

Without regard to the wet and dry issue, these leaders are the ones that should resign from the organization bearing a Democratic slogan, because both of them not only bolted the Democratic ticket in 1928, but openly urged the election of a Republican President, and now loudly proclaim that they will do the same thing in 1932 unless their own personal views are adhered to 100 per cent. They are just about as much Democrats as Senator Norris is Republican.

On the other hand, chairman Raskob not only loyally supported the Democratic ticket in 1928, but has announced that he will steadfastly do the same thing in 1932, whether or not the party adopts his own personal views. It does not take any stretch of the imagination to conclude which is the most valuable asset to the Democrats. In all fairness to the Democratic party this league should change its name so as to eliminate any reference to the Democratic party.

Those from Boston included Mr. and Mrs. Gaspar Bacon, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Homans, Mr. Edwin Webster, noted engineer and art patron, and Mrs. Webster; Mr. Leverett Saltonstall, Mrs. Louis A. Frothingham and Mr. and Mrs. Christian Herter.

Mr. and Mrs. Herter have close associations with the President and Mrs. Hoover, having lived in Washington more than ten years ago when Mr. Herter served as assistant to Mr. Hoover, then Secretary of Commerce. He formerly was an attache at the American Embassy in Berlin. Mr. Herter is associate editor of The Sportsman, published in Bostor, and is associated with Better Homes in America. Mr. and Mrs. Herter are guests, during their stay, of the President and Mrs. Hoover.

From New York the Secretary and Mrs. Adams invited Mr. and Mrs. George F. Baker, jr., and Mr. Walter Gifford, who was director of the United States Council for National Defense from 1916-1917.

A fete at the home of the Secretary and Mrs. Adams carries with it a certain stately dignity as marked as though given at the White House, which, in a sense, is the home of Mr. Adams' ancestors. On the walls of the house on R street hang portraits of two former Presidents of the United States and two first ladies. They are "of" the Adams family and distinguished ancestors of the Secretary; John Adams, second President of the United States, and Abigail Adams, first mistress of the White House, and the sixth President, John Quincy Adams, and his lovely wife, Louisa Catherine Adams.

The paintings lend unique distinction to the formal rose-colored drawing room, an air found rarely in rooms outside the Executive Mansion, for, after all, only the Adams family and the Harrisons have given to the country two Presidents.

The dinner last night marked the sixth of the Cabinet dinners given in honor of the President and Mrs. Hoover. Earlier in the season the Vice President entertained, as have the Secretary of State and Mrs. Stimson, the Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. Andrew W. Mellon; the Secretary of War and Mrs. Hurley, and the Attorney General and Mrs. Mitchell. Owing to the mourning the Postmaster General and Mrs. Brown —next in line—waived their fete to the Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Adams.

The Secretary and Mrs. Adams will entertain again on Saturday evening in honor of the visiting Prince and Princess Takamatau.

The President and Mrs. Hoover will be the guests in whose honor the Secretary of the Interior and Mrs. Wilbur will entertain on Tuesday, April 21, continuing the Cabinet dinners.

APPROVAL SOUGHT FOR ROAD SURVEY

Planning Commission Asks Nearby Counties for Cooperation.

Decision to enlist the cooperation of municipal and highway agencies within a radius of 20 miles of Washington in a traffic survey to determine the source and destination of motor vehicular travel was reached by the highway committee of the National Capital Park and Planning Commission at a meeting yesterday afternoon.

Results of the survey will be used as a guide in the building of future roads in and around Washington. The survey will begin July 1, if approval is given by all the municipal agencies affected, and a year will be required to complete the work. Approximately $40,000 will be spent on the survey.

The proposed survey was submitted to the Park and Planning Commission by the Bureau of Public Roads with the view to facilitating plans for future road building in the greater Washington area. In a draft submitted to the highway committee yesterday, Thomas Harrison MacDonald, chairman of the Bureau of Public Roads, pointed out that the route for future highways in the territory surrounding Washington will be determined by the trend of traffic as shown in the survey.

Charles W. Eliot, city planner of the Park and Planning Commission, will communicate at once with the District Commissioners and municipal authorities in Prince Georges and Montgomery Counties, Md., and Arlington and Fairfax Counties in Virginia, and Alexandria, to obtain their approval of the survey and cooperation in making it. Cooperation of the Maryland Park and Planning Commission and a number of other agencies in the affected area also will be necessary before the work can be started.

Mr. Eliot said that most of these agencies have already indicated their desire to cooperate in the survey.

Miss Bennett Becomes Bride Of New Envoy

Marriage to Canadian Minister Takes Place in Ottawa.

Miss Mildred Bennett, sister of the Right Hon. Richard Bedford Bennett, prime minister of Canada, and Maj. William Duncan Herridge, Minister of Canada to the United States, were married yesterday in Chalmers United Church in Ottawa.

Maj. Herridge and his bride will sail for Europe tomorrow where the minister will complete several law cases before the Privy Council in London. They will visit the Continent, including a trip to Denmark and will return to Canada May 1. They will come to Washington in the late summer.

The Governor General and Countess Bessborough were the only guests present at the ceremony apart from members of the two families.

The bride was given away by Premier Bennett in a church decorated with ferns that banked the communion table and pulpit stairway. Easter lillies were in tall golden standards. The Rev. Dr. John W. Woodside read the service.

The bride was unattended. She wore a wedding gown of summer cloud blue bouffe de sole with fitted silhouette, which spread in a long, full flounce ending in two small trains. Her jacket, of the same material, was beaded to the elbows in green and mauve, the design outlined in seed pearls. The large-brimmed hat was of rough French straw in cloud blue, and she wore silver embroidered crepe slippers. Her bouquet was of mauve and pink orchids.

For many years Miss Bennett was an inseparable campanion of her brother. During the last political campaign she accompanied him across the country, frequently speaking for him.

The bride has presided over the household of her bachelor brother, the prime minister, at the magnificent suite in the Chateau Laurier in Ottawa. Universally popular in the Canadian capital, Mrs. Herridge has also an alluring background of travel, having been abroad many times since she was 16 years of age. She obtained her B. A. at Mount Allison University in New Brunswick.

The new minister is not unknown in Washington, having visited here in the late winter with Mr. Bennett, prime minister, and was entertained at the British Embassy, the White House and elsewhere. He received the decoration of the Distinguished Service Order and the Military Cross for service with the Canadian forces during the World War, returning to Ottawa after the war to enter the practice of law.

Before his appointment to Washington, Maj. Herridge, internationally known as a patent and corporation lawyer, was a confidential adviser to the prime minister.

Five Stores Will Replace Former Wardman Home

The three-story residence at 1825 Columbia road, a former home of Harry Wardman, prominent builder, will be razed by present owners of the property to make way for five modern store buildings, it was learned yesterday. The property, which has a 70-foot frontage on Columbia road and extends to a depth of 141 feet, is owned by James W. Beller and Blaine Mallan, attorneys, with offices in the Transportation Building.

The owners' plans call for erection of stores with individual floor space of approximately 1120 square feet and limestone fronts. Weaver Bros., Inc., have secured exclusive rental and sales contracts for the buildings, financing of which was arranged by this corporation through the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. Work on the project will begin within ten days.

ESTATE MANAGEMENT PROVIDED THROUGH YOUR WILL AND EXECUTOR

Through a Will, you not only have the opportunity of expressing your wishes concerning the disposition of your property, but you may also name an Executor and Trustee to see that such expressions are carried out.

The making of a Will, therefore, involves two questions of paramount importance. The first of these refers to the care which should be exercised in its drawing to avoid any defects that might render it inoperative. Your attorney is prepared to advise you in this respect.

The second points to the many advantages of naming a competent Executor and Trustee—one that is equipped through experience, facilities, and perpetual existence, to ably administer the affairs of your estate.

Make your will now and name the American Security and Trust Company your Executor and Trustee. Its forty-one years of estate experience gives the assurance that any matters entrusted to it will be competently handled.

Announcing ....

"EMERSON"

The New Telephone Central Office

We take pleasure in announcing the opening of a new central office, to be called "Emerson", which will be located in the present Cleveland central office building and which will serve jointly with Cleveland this rapidly developing residential section of Washington.

During the past eleven years the number of telephones in Washington has more than doubled. On January 1, 1920, there were 82,589 telephones, while on January 1, 1931, the number had increased to 168,480. In order to meet this rapid growth the Company has, since 1920, established seven new central offices, of which "Emerson" is the latest addition.

This growth in the number of telephones has greatly increased the value of the service to all of our patrons. Our constant aim is to furnish Washington with the most and the best telephone service at a reasonable cost. To this end we are continually providing additional facilities to meet the increasing telephone requirements of the public.

YOUR NAME — WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

By HARRY A. DEFERRARI.

THE family name "Lloyd" is of Welsh origin. It was originally given as a personal name derived from the Welsh objective "llwyd," meaning "gray." Since "Lloyd" was extremely common as a personal name at the time when personal names were becoming hereditary, it is now well known as a family name over the whole English-speaking world. However, since personal names did not become hereditary in Wales until relatively late, "Lloyd" does not seem to occur as a family name until 1510. A document of that year bears the name of Thomas Lloyd. There have been numerous distinguished bearers of the name. William Lloyd (1627-1717) was a prominent bishop. Charles Lloyd (1775-1839) and Robert Lloyd (1733-1764) were poets. Humphrey Lloyd (1800-1881) was a provost of Trinity College, Dublin. Edward Lloyd kept the famous "Lloyd's Coffee House" in Lombard street, London, about the beginning of the eighteenth century. He published a paper which eventually came to be known as "Lloyd's List," containing shipping and commercial news. From him the association and the corporation now known as "Lloyd's" were named.

The correct pronunciation of the Welsh family name "Lloyd" is extremely difficult for English speaking people. The name "Floyd" merely represents the English attempt to pronounce "Lloyd." William Floyd was one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence. John Buchanan Floyd (1805-1863) was an American statesman and Confederate general.

The family name "Harbin" is of English origin. It is merely a diminutive form of "Herbert" and may therefore be translated "little army-bright" and "little firm bright."

What Today Means to You

By MARY BLAKE

"ARIES."

IF April 15 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 1 p. m. to 4 p. m. and from 7:15 p. m. to 9:30 p. m. The danger hours are from 9:30 a. m. to 11 a. m., from 4:30 p. m. to 5:45 p. m., and from 9:30 p. m. to 10:30 p. m.

The astrological indications of April 15 are particularly propitious for new enterprises, and for research work. They reveal buoyancy of spirit and continuity of effort; many unexpected, but happy, results may be safely anticipated. Marriages solemnized on this date will be productive of much happiness.

Children born on this April 15 will be truthful, self-confident and never impatient. They will easily acquire the habit of punctuality and the custom of courtesy. Domestic in their tastes, they will have many interests outside of the home, and their horoscope bespeaks for them merited success and happiness.

Born on April 15, you are broad-minded, and are more liable to judge actions by the original intention, rather than by the method of execution. You take wide views, and do not permit yourself to be led astray by little details which often obscure the main issue rather than contribute to its "denouncement." You are destined to achieve your ambition—whatever it may be—unless you allow yourself to be deflected by a foolish infatuation—and this is, for you, a real danger.

You are a good organizer, and never shirk responsibility. You are considerate of others, when they work with you, and not against you. Ineptitude can be overlooked: disloyalty, never. You are a good judge, although not a votary, of art. You like, too, to dabble in problems of life that are usually classified as abstruse. Although not an enthusiastic "fan," you take a keen interest in sports and outdoor recreation.

Your disposition is an amorous one. You are destined to have many love affairs. These, however, will be your apprenticeship, and when you finally "settle down" it will only be with the one who will satisfy your longings for steadfast and true companionship. Your love for children is fully reciprocated by them.

Jane Ardanse INTERPRETS the MODE

A lovely black chiffon dress with printed roses for trimming, cut out of a printed chiffon and appliqued. (Courtesy of Ardanse, Paris.)

Aboard S. S. Isle de France, April 14.

AFTER what happened to us a couple of seasons ago, we keep a spry eye out for surprises in skirt lengths, one and all. The most asked question on either side of the water is, "Are skirt lengths going to stay long?" and that, too, is the question that I get in letters, more often than any one other question.

Having just left Paris, and being this minute not yet in New York, but on the high seas (very high, too), I could dismiss your questions and fears in the airy manner of the average fashion writer and say, "Yes, skirts are still long." But I won't, as that is no way to be a big help to my deah publik, now is it? The long and the short of the skirt question is that there is a long and a short to it, although not a very short one, and increasingly less a long one. Everything points to an evening up of the matter, even chez Patou, who was the arbitrator in the long skirt matter two years ago.

If there is any favorite, it is on the wrong side. Eight inches from the ground for daytime wear, seldom more than 10. Sports wear can be and is shorter, but never short, excepting for the beach and tennis dresses for very young things, which are frankly above the knees.

And as I have told you before, if your evening dress, or your chiffon or georgette summer afternoon dress shows a slightly longer than knee length underskirt and stockings, and what's in 'em from there on to the hem of the dress, the dress hem being to the ankles, but the dress itself being transparent from the knees down, you are quite within your style rights.

• • • •

As to house dresses, the proper length is about 10 to 12 inches from the ankle, and the skirt must be full as to pleats and give the wearer freedom of movement—whether that be to waltz a broom around the house, or walk the baby out in the sun, or walk yourself down the boardwalk of some summer resort. For modern house dresses, you know, are chic, and can be worn as summer dresses, as sports dresses, to do your marketing in, or what will you. And doesn't it help with the house work, though, to know that you are nicely dressed! Better send that stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for this week's illustrated leaflet of Dare's ideas for making new house dresses, house dresses from Paris, think of it!

• • • •

Ardanse gowns are always so lovely! She takes the average idea of the average little dressmaker, and makes something ravishing out of it, in a typical Ardanse manner—like the summer afternoon or dinner dancing dress I have sketched for you today. It is of black chiffon, and the printed roses are cut out of a printed chiffon, and then appliqued to the dress in just certain places. One on each shoulder, for instance, some on each long and graceful sleeve, and the rest on the skirt hiding the skirt flounces which fall gracefully from under them. I can't even do justice to the loveliness of this dress, you know!

• • • •

'Member I promised to tell you how to be a platinum blonde? Well, it is done by washing the hair with white henna, and then with indigo blueing—and that gives that lovely white-silvery hair that is going to be so popular this season. If you don't want to experiment with you own hair, there are transformations and wigs, as you know.

• • • •

Sports clothes and their divisions are to be discussed in Dare's weekly fashion letter in next Sunday's Washington Post. You'll find it interesting.

Au Revoir!

Wives of Tomorrow

FRANCES M'DONALD

Door Mats and Gold-Diggers.

DOROTHY is just out of school and wishing to make no mistakes, she wants to know which she should be in order to be popular permanently with men—door mat or a gold digger. Of course Dorothy did not phase it in just those terms, for Dorothy, like most girls just out of school, is terribly and deadly in earnest about the matter of men and their vanquishment.

What Dorothy wants is to be absolutely deadly but at the same time sweet. A sort of combination of Cleopatra—and Little Eva. All we are to do is tell her how: "I am naturally inclined to be sweet and it is a big handicap." Thus Dorothy sums up after a brief experience with present-day Romeos. Yes. It is a handicap today for a girl to be sweet. Time was when men were men and women could be women without being imposed upon. That day is past. The present crop of what started out to be men are such pampered softened, weakened wash-outs, that any more kindness would kill them. Their doting mothers and absent-minded fathers have lavished upon them all that men once had to get out and hustle for a life-time to acquire. They are fed up with plenty. They are limp from leisure. They have gone soprano. They have not at 25 the manhood their fathers had at 12. And Dorothy finds them a problem. Hearken to the plaint of a modern maid:

"At first I thought it was just one particular boy who was that way, and I gave him up. But now I know that most every boy wants all he can get in entertainment without giving anything at all in return. If a boy does not have a car he will never bother with a girl who hasn't got one. The girls who can bring the crowd home to dance and all that gets the crowd. I did not mind when we were in school. But now I want to get somewhere besides my own home. Besides, my dad is always asking what kind of fellows are they that let a girl do all the entertaining. I agree with him. I do not want such fellows. But that is all fellows today. They are worse gold-diggers than any girl ever was.

"However, a girl must have fellows. I am no different from other girls. I want the fellows to take me around. Now how can I let them understand that I expect this and still not be unpopular? They like me all right. Call me every night. All that. But I want action. The trouble is I am naturally inclined to be sweet and it is a great handicap. If a fellow says he is broke, I am done for. Right away I feel so sorry for him and find myself sitting at home once more. And they are always pleading that broke story. Boys are not proud any more at all. I often suspect they are hinting for a loan. I would never lend to them. But I know heaps of girls who do. The minute a boy says he is broke they say 'I've got two bucks,' or what ever it is and away they go. I could not. I want the boy to be a little more than a grafter.

"Now it comes down to this. Is it possible to be popular and still demand what you want? And get it? That is what I want to be able to do. Tell me how."

And we would like to reply with three simple rules for making a man out of a chiseller. But we can not. The present-day youth is a pretty poor specimen. He'd rather do anything than work. He will borrow from girls and when they stop lending, seek others. He has no code and no future. The marvel is that any girl can tolerate him. There is, however, one rule that applies today as yesterday and tomorrow. And that is that the woman who demands, gets. It is not gold-digging to expect a man to do the entertaining. It is a job. Just as providing a home is his job. And the woman who usurps that job weakens first the man and then her hold upon the man. No decent man whines to a woman about being broke. For such, the door—and the atmosphere. Better a gold-digger than a door mat.

Indoor and Outdoor Gardens

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

GIANT-FLOWERED TYPE OF ZINNIAS.

HAVE you been growing zinnias in your garden these last few summers? If you have not it is because you have not seen the new giant-flowered zinnias. The appeal of the older ones was always doubtful.

The new zinnias are different in every way from the older kinds. First, their colors are true. The scarlet is pure; so is the crimson, white, flesh color and purple, and the mixed varieties are legion.

Zinnias begin to bloom early in the year and continue to do so until cut down by frost. A recent writer describes zinnias as "a long-lasting feast at little cost."

The newer varieties have much more to recommend them than their color. The quilled zinnias are beautiful. The petals, no longer flat, are quilled or enfolded, giving a lighter, daintier effect. You can secure these varieties in indescribable bronze tones, brilliant cerise or yellow, with the color on the inside of the petal different from that on the outside. One of the newer strains is known as the cactus flowered zinnia. The flowers of this variety have curled and pointed petals like the cactus dahlia.

So if you are looking for a colorful mass of brilliant tones for that plot of ground in front of the house, you have plenty of time to sow some zinnia seed. If you do not want to bother with seed you can in late May set out plants which have been grown in the greenhouse. Zinnias will coax your house out into the open and make it a part of the big outdoors. They are especially well-suited for planting about a stucco bungalow, where the colors stand out against the walls in bold relief.

While these cheerful blossoms are not one bit particular about soil, growing equally well in almost any kind, they refuse to unfold one lovely bud unless they are planted in strong sun. If the plot where you have them is shaded for even a few hours a day, it is doubtful whether you will have many flowers.

Zinnias require very little care during the warm months. Unlike most garden flowers, they are usually quite content with the water they receive from summer showers. During prolonged dry spells they are grateful for water about twice a week, but that is quite sufficient.

However, it is well to loosen the earth about their roots every two weeks or oftener, if you have the time. Should you have a garden hose wash their foliage whenever you water the rest of your garden. I do not suggest this because the zinnias require the water for their growth, but because their foliage, not being glossy, becomes rather rusty looking, and a bath adds materially to its appearance.

Always grow these plants in masses. They are striking when so placed, but hardly make attractive single specimen plants. You will find them very useful for cutting during the entire season.

WORK ON BRIDGE

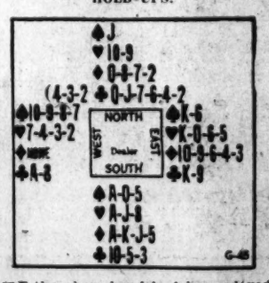
HOLD-UPS.



IF the above hand had been played at Auction Bridge, South's one No Trump would have been the only bid.

But at Contract Bridge South bid two No Trumps. His hand had a No Trump count of 19—all that an original two No Trump bid requires with stoppers in three suits. North's three No Trumps closed the bidding.

West led the Seven of Spades which brought the Jack, King and Ace from the other three hands. South's first Club lead was won by East's King, and the Six of Spades returned. South played the Five, but West overtook with the Seven and Forced out South's Queen. The prayer that went with Declarer's lead of a Club—that the Ace might be with East—was not answered, and West gaily went down the line with his Spades. The total damages were five tricks in Spades and two in Clubs—setting the contract three tricks.

Would you have made game on this hand?

THE CORRECT PLAY.

Many good players who always hold up their Aces when it is their only stopper in the suit opened against them in No Trump, unhesitatingly play their first of two stoppers on the first trick, even when the opening lead suggests the possibility of a six-card suit in the opener's hand and the first hold-up is just as important as the second.

If East's Spade holding had been a high singleton, the hold-up would have made it necessary for West to have three re-entries in order to bring in his suit. With East's holding a doubleton as in this hand, West needs two re-entries if South ducks the first trick. With the Spade held up once East, when he gets in with the King of Clubs, has no more Spades and naturally leads the king of Hearts. South wins and, with the high Spade still in his own hand, is quite willing to give West his ace of Clubs. But West's Spades are now worthless and game cannot be stopped. All West can do is lead a Heart to Keep Declarer from making an extra trick.

(This initial hold-up of two immediate stoppers can be made only with Ace-King-x, or with Ace-Queen-x when the King is played third hand.)

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

BETTY COMPTON, who recently achieved a record by marrying and divorcing Eddie Dowling, motion picture continuity writer, all within the brief span of a single month, has become one of the most discussed celebrities on Broadway in less than five years.

This slim, brunet, olive-skinned girl was born on the Isle of Wight. As a youngster she moved to Toronto, Ontario, and arrived in New York in 1926 to be a specialty dancer in J. P. McAvoy's "Americana." Her next part was in support of Gertrude Lawrence in "Oh, Kay;" her last in "Fifty Million Frenchmen," the screen version of which was recently seen in this city. She now is under contract to appear in the next edition of George White's "Scandals."

Last year Miss Compton journeyed to Hollywood to appear in talking pictures. Her appearances were exclusively in short subjects. She is rated one of the best dancers on the stage.

Except during Februarys, she lives with her mother in a New York apartment hotel, unless occupying her summer home at Mamaroneck, Long Island.

In February—well,' perhaps she won't do it again!

Although Ted Lewis preceded them to the Capital with much the same sort of featured number, the Rimacs and their Havana Rumba Orchestra, now at the Earle, are introducing to the United States the original Cuban "Rumba Rhythm," with that smash hit song that is whistling its way to the ends of the earth—"The Peanut Vendor."

The musical numbers being played by this authentic West Indian organization are compositions of the most famous Cuban authors—Lecuona, Grenet, Simons and numerous others. The orchestra was assembled in Havana especially to tour the United States. It is under the direction of Senor Manuel Gomez, a leader and composer well known on the island.

Charley Boy (Carlitos, to you) is the youthful player of the group and the most sensational of the dancers, in addition to being an expert on a variety of typical Cuban instruments.

The orchestra, by the way, utilizes a considerable number of native instruments, among them the bongo, maracas, guiro, claves and the cencerro—whatever they are!

No doubt George Kelly did a considerable bit of writing in turning out his "Philip Goes Forth," being presented this week by the National Theaters Players, but I have my doubts that he wrote a play. Rather, what this young Pulitzer prize winner seems to have done is compose himself a series of essays—or perhaps they are lectures—pertaining to the general subject of amateurism in playwrighting, which he has distributed among a half dozen or so characters to deliver from a stationary position in stage center.

Nothing ever happens, but a great deal is said—which is a gorgeous memory test for any stock company just getting into its stride.

Next week at the National, while the topic is fresh, the attraction will be "Coquette," so charmingly played on the stage by Washington's native star, Helen Hayes, and later essayed on the screen by Mary Pickford, with results that were less happy.

The Belasco next week, unless an eleventh hour change in plans is announced later on, will be dark, pending the premiere on Monday evening, April 27, of Elmer Harris' new play, "A Modern Virgin."

Those who find an unusual quality of appeal in the artistry of the Negro race have ample opportunity to gratify their tastes this week. In addition to Lew Leslie's "Rhapsody in Black," current at the Belasco, Jules Bledsoe, famous colored barytone, will be heard in concert in the Washington Auditorium tonight, and on Sunday night Marion Anderson, contraito, will sing locally.

It may not be generally known that Jules Bledsoe, with whose name "Ol' Man River," from Ziegfeld's "Show Boat," is indelibly associated, is a Texan by birth. Launched upon a pursuit of the higher education, his academic work was interrupted by the war, during which he served with credit. Later he began the study of medicine at Columbia University, but was soon led into a musical career by the excellence of his voice and the wide attention which it attracted while he was still an amateur.

Not that it especially matters, it would still be a swell idea if Jack and Estelle would make up their minds which one is going to get that divorce—if any.

Avoid Substitutes for Kotex
—they may endanger health

Sanitary protection definitely affects health—don't risk careless methods of manufacture

WHEN you're choosing sanitary protection is no time to take chances. This matter is too definitely related to your health.

Don't gamble with questionable substitutes to save a few extra pennies—substitutes of whose makers you know nothing.

Kotex provides an assurance of safety that simply can't be measured in terms of money.

The choice of hospitals

Kotex is scientifically made, of Cellucotton (not cotton) absorbent wadding in surroundings of hospital-like cleanliness. Human hands do not touch Kotex in the entire process of manufacture. Kotex is immaculate, pure. More than 10 million pads were used by hospitals last year.

When you are tempted to accept a substitute, ask yourself: "How is it made? Where? By whom? How do I know it is fit for this intimate purpose?"

No sanitary protection that cannot answer these questions fearlessly and honestly, should be considered. You dare not trust appearance alone. Demand the very highest standard of hygiene—the standard set by Kotex—accept nothing less.

Kotex offers every possible comfort. It is soft, and stays soft; shaped to fit; amazingly absorbent; completely disposable; treated to deodorize. Kotex Company, Chicago.

IN HOSPITALS . . .

1 The Kotex absorbent is the identical material used by surgeons in 85% of the country's leading hospitals.
2 Kotex is soft . . . . Not merely an apparent softness, that soon packs into chafing hardness. But a delicate, lasting softness.
3 Can be worn on either side with equal comfort. No embarrassment.
4 Disposable, instantly, completely.

Regular Kotex—45c for 12
Kotex Super-Size—65c for 12

5 SAVED AS 12 DIE IN EXPLOSION, FIRE

Chicago Street Hurled Into Confusion as Trapped Men Fight for Life.

Chicago, April 14 (A.P.).—An underground inferno of searing flame nd noxious fumes snuffed out twelve ves today, but calm judgment and alliant effort after an explosion won reedom from a deep, blazing tomb r fifteen other men.

With stunning swiftness the flames icked at the sawdust tinder and the y timbers lining the new concrete ubing of a sanitary district sewerage innel under Twenty-second street, ne of the principal east-west thorughfares on the Southwest Side.

Workmen and firemen were stifled f poisonous gases in the subterhean trap. Some died in frantic reaks for the elevator shaft that led freedom and life. Sixteen locked emselves in a 30-foot air chamber nd waited through a night of horror r the chance of escape that came fter sixteen hours.

51 Treated at Hospitals.

Fifty-one workers and firemen, in l, were treated at hospitals for urns, injuries, exhaustion and the erilous effects of inhaled smoke. All ere expected to recover.

A thirteenth life was lost on the reet above. Harry Fielder, a policeman, directing traffic near the scene, as struck down by one of the fleet f ambulances that carried the inured away.

The tragedy had all the elements of mine disaster, with the added rama of its enactment deep under he teeming traffic and industry of a reat city. One-fourth of Chicago's ast fire department was concenrated at rescue work, and hundreds f police strove to keep order in the illing mob of watchers, 10,000 or ore, stampeding at times as shouts ent up from the mouth of the elevator shaft that men were coming rth alive.

Experts Brought Long Way.

From Springfield, Vincennes, Ind., nd Kenosha, Wis., rescue equipment was marshaled and mine experts hastened.

Heroes were many, but above them ll, perhaps, stood Fireman Irving trom. Eighteen times he rode down he elevator cage, sweating and gasping under his mask, dragging from e tunnel seven bodies—one of hem to be revived from seeming eath. When afternoon came, and he ad hours ago been ordered to stay bove the ground, Strom came back or more and was one of the first t down for a final search as the ames dwindled to ashes.

A newly invented smoke-ejector erfected only at 3 a. m. today by eter Firsch, Kenosha, Wis., contractr, swept the tube clear of fumes nd gave the 16 prisoners their hance to flee before the blaze made fe unbearable. Fans sucked up the moke and forced compressed air own, fanning the flames, but clearng the air sufficiently to let the aptives open their bulkhead and run or the elevator.

The fire was scarcely curbed beore Coroner Herman N. Bundesen pened an inquest into its cause. hree theories were advanced—rossed electric wires, a careless orkman dropping a candle into the awdust and shavings around the unnel bulkhead, and a violation of he smoking rules.

Only a few other witnesses testied and then Bundesen continued he hearing to April 21.

Determined to die in the blazing unnel in which her fireman-husband erished, Mrs. Edward Pratt, bride of ve months, fought vainly with pocemen and firemen today to reach he shaft.

"If my husband can die down ere, I can, too," she cried. It took x policemen to subdue her. She as returned to her home.

GERMANY'S HEALTH IS HURT BY SLUMP

Tuberculosis Is Increasing in Direct Ratio With Unemployment.

Berlin, April 14 (A.P.).—Germany is paying for war, inflation, reparations and depression in the impaired health of her citizens, says Dr. Julius Moses, member of the Reichstag and of the federal board of health.

He bases this conclusion on medical opinion collected by him from noted professors of medicine, heads of hospitals, leading practitioners and specialists on public health. The results have been submitted to the government.

The experts told Dr. Moses that tuberculosis increases in direct ratio with unemployment, that the death rate among children has risen alarmingly because workless parents can not provide car fare to get suffering youngsters to clinics and that despondency resulting from inability to find work is undermining nervous systems.

"It is only when one reads this expert testimony that one realizes how impoverished our country has become," said Dr. Moses. "The casual visitor to Germany can not know the real conditions, for the German has a way of hiding his poverty and of putting on a 'front.'"

Dr. Moses predicts that the legislators of the world will sooner or later submit every important bill to health experts.

"The breakdown of health which follows in the wake of a war is a result of a wrong foreign policy. The injury to health which comes from unemployment is a result of faulty economics," he says.

"High tariffs upon the necessities of life result from a mistaken trade policy. Every new tax reacts on health."

Moonshine Saves Lambs.

Gold Beach, Oreg., April 14 (U.P.).—Believe it or not, but the foreman of Macleay Estate Co.'s Farm at Wedderburn saved the lives of several lambs with moonshine. Strong winds and rains during the lambing season killed many lambs and others were about to die. The foreman carried some of the dying lambs into a shed near a stove and tried to revive them. It failed until he remembered a bottle of moonshine. He diluted the moonshine with water, poured a tablespoonful down the throats of the lambs and they soon began to kick and bleat for their mothers.

32,000 WITNESS BASEBALL OPENING

the Nats, the Army Band and the members of the teams marched to the center-field flagpole. As the bands played strains from the national anthem of each nation, the flags of 20 Pan-American countries were floated to the breeze, each hoisting being accompanied by the firing of an Army cannon in the park. The twenty-first gun, marking a presidential salute, came with the unfurling of Old Glory. After the crowds stood with heads bowed for the playing of "The Star-Spangled Banner," baseball assumed its rightful place and held it until the final curtain of the "show."

President Hoover, his arm in fine fettle as the result of his Southern training trip, hurled a "strike" to Nick Altrock, the umpires and the captains conferred, and probably somebody yelled "Play ball." You couldn't have heard the cry because ear drums were still paralyzed from the presidential salute.

Griffith Stadium was a beautiful spectacle for the contest. In addition to the 21 flags floating in center field, flags and bunting hung from most of the boxes. Through the crowd could be seen the bright spring colors which only a midsummer sun can bring into the open. Even President Hoover disdained to wear a topcoat. He wore a brown suit and brown fedora. Mrs. Hoover had a new spring hat of black and a wine-colored coat trimmed with black fur.

Hoover Stays Ten Innings.

True fan that he is, the President remained through ten innings of the struggle, being forced to leave because of a night engagement to speak over the radio. Mrs. Hoover, Allan Hoover and Mrs. Herbert Hoover, jr., who came with the President, remained to see the final Athletic rally, which sent the Nats down to defeat after a bitter battle.

Senators, representatives, diplomats and society leaders mingled with everyday fans in the opening crowd, while the special guests of honor included many officials in Washington for the observance of Pan-American day.

The crowd, treated to all the delights of a midseason scrap, was, for the most part, good humored. It groaned a bit when the Athletics opened up with a run in the first. It cheered vociferously when Washington tied it the same inning. It grew enthusiastic as Brown set down the A. hitters in order for seven innings, and it shouted loudly when the Nats broke the tie in the seventh. It suffered a sinking sensation when the A's tied the score in the ninth. It had a bad relapse at the beginning of the tenth, but it recovered as the home club rallied to tie once more. The finish left it staggered but still praising the gameness of its favorites.

Tomorrow is another day and despite the grumblings on the runways of "We ought to get Goslin back" and "Johnson was wrong when he took Brown out," the fans will be back there pulling for Hadley or somebody else to even the count.

Generally speaking, it would have been a highly successful opening if Philadelphia had just left one man at home. Yes, his name is Grove.

GAS relieved

WHAT most people call indigestion is usually excess acid in the stomach. Food has soured. The instant remedy is an alkali which neutralizes acids. But don't use crude helps. Use what your doctor would advise.

The best help is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. For the 50 years since its invention, it has remained standard with physicians. You will find nothing else so quick in its effect, so harmless, so efficient.

One tasteless spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in acid. The results are immediate with no harmful after-effects.

Once you learn this perfect way you'll never deal in any other manner with the headaches, gas, bloating, nausea, dizziness, indigestion, biliousness, &c., due to an over-acid stomach and bowels.

Be sure to get genuine Phillips'. Look for the name Phillips on the bottle. All drug stores—25c and 50c.

Charles E. Langley Sued For Care of Children

Smith Seeks Dismissal Of Disability Pay Suit

In a reply filed by Attorneys John Lewis Smith and John Paul Jones, William Wolff Smith, general counsel of the Veterans' Bureau, yesterday asked the District Supreme Court to dismiss the petition filed by John E. Smalling, which would, in effect, bar Smith from drawing the $2,250 annual disability pay he now gets from the Government.

The claim is made in Mr. Smith's answer that Smalling, whose name appears as "Smallwood" in one paragraph of the reply, has no legal or equitable interest in the suit and also that the court has no power to review a finding of the Veterans' Bureau. The failure to state a cause for action is also alleged in Mr. Smith's petition.

Man Burned by Gasoline Flames.

Samuel O. Hauser, 26 years old, of 1010 Seventh street southwest, was burned on the right leg yesterday when gasoline ignited while he was working in a garage at 708 Fourteenth street northeast. He was treated at the Insurance Clinic, 1728 Rhode Island avenue northwest, and then taken to his home.

District Bus Man's Wife Seeking Limited Divorce

Jean L. Armour, described as the District representative of a large interstate bus company, is being sued for a limited divorce by his wife Anne Armour, of Fourth street near G street northeast.

Mrs. Armour alleges that her husband frequently boasted to her of his girl friends. He deserted her in September, 1927, Mrs. Armour declared.

Memorial Drive Land Appraisers Will Mee

Land valuation in connection with the proposed George Washington Memorial Parkway, to run along the Potomac River, between Great Falls and the Mount Vernon Memorial boulevard, will be considered at a meeting of the board of appraisal tomorrow morning, Capt. E. N. Chisolm, jr., chairman, said yesterday.

Others on the board are Earl W. Baum, of Burgundy Farm, Va., representing Fairfax County, and Keith A. Brumback, representing the Arlington County board of supervisors.

Smith Seeks Dismissal Of Disability Pay Suit

In a reply filed by Attorneys John Lewis Smith and John Paul Jones, William Wolff Smith, general counsel of the Veterans' Bureau, yesterday asked the District Supreme Court to dismiss the petition filed by John E. Smalling, which would, in effect, bar Smith from drawing the $2,250 annual disability pay he now gets from the Government.

The claim is made in Mr. Smith's answer that Smalling, whose name appears as "Smallwood" in one paragraph of the reply, has no legal or equitable interest in the suit and also that the court has no power to review a finding of the Veterans' Bureau. The failure to state a cause for action is also alleged in Mr. Smith's petition.

Man Burned by Gasoline Flames.

Samuel O. Hauser, 39 years old, of 1010 Seventh street southwest, was burned on the right leg yesterday when gasoline ignited while he was working in a garage at 708 Fourteenth street northeast. He was treated at the Insurance Clinic, 1726 Rhode Island avenue northwest, and then taken to his home.

District Bus Man's Wife Seeking Limited Divorce

Jean L. Armour, described as the District representative of a large interstate bus company, is being sued for a limited divorce by his wife Anne Armour, of Fourth street near G street northeast.

Mrs. Armour alleges that her husband frequently boasted to her of his girl friends. He deserted her in September, 1927, Mrs. Armour declared.

XANTHOMAS.

MRS. S. P. T. wants an article on "xanthoma of the eye"—the cause and cure.

My guess is that Mrs. S. P. T. has passed the meridian of life. If I were a Bell of Scotland, or even one of his camp followers, such as Conan Doyle (or Sherlock Holmes) or one of the prevailing garden variety of crime detector, I might add to my diagnosis of Mrs. S. P. T.: "You eat eggs for breakfast, and you are not certain your charms will hold out to hold your husband." Since I am none of these, I say none of these.

Xanthoma is a small, yellowish tumor located in the skin and causing it to stand up just a little. It is seldom as large as a pea and rarely does it project more than the thickness of blotting paper. Xanthoma of the eye is not on or in the eyeball. It is on the skin side of the eyelid. It appears in other parts of the body, but nobody cares. The worry is about those that appear on the eyelids.

They are likely to be multiple. Never are they large enough to do any harm, nor are they harmful in any other way. There is but one way to cure them and that is to remove them by surgical procedure. Rather than have them removed a woman had better adorn them somehow and pose as a proud possessor; exercise her inventiveness to convert a liability into an asset.

When a xanthoma is cut out and examined microscopically it is found to be related, somewhat distantly, to fat and to contain considerable of a near-fat substance called Lecithin. This substance is found in the arteries of certain kinds of old people, the whitish zone of the eyes of some elderly people (which zone goes by the name arcus senilis), and in certain gallstones which are formed sometimes in people who are fat and forty.

This same chemical abounds in the yellow of eggs. Many middle-aged people habitually eat eggs for breakfast. Had I been a Bell this would have been the only foundation for a statement that Mrs. S. P. T. ate an egg for breakfast. Dr. Bell, and no one else, would have said that Mrs. S. P. T. was an egg eater when she was a child or that she should have been.

MAY BE DUE TO SINUS.

W. V. K. writes: For some time I have been bothered by a constant frontal headache, accompanied by a burning sensation in the nose, throat and ears. I am told it is catarrh.

1. Will it in time impair the sense of hearing?
2. Is it curable?
3. Can it be communicated to others?

REPLY.

1. The answer should be based on more information than you appear to have.
2. Your story indicates an infection of the frontal sinus. If this is the trouble, proper care should result in cure.
3. No.

TREATING CROSSEYES.

F. L. R. writes: I am 23 years old and a little crosseyed. Could I have it fixed?

REPLY.

Yes. Wearing appropriate glasses might be all you need to do. If not, an operation would remedy the condition.

NATS BOW TO RALLIES OF ATHLETICS IN 11 INNINGS, 5-3, AFTER BROWN THRILLS 32,000 BY MASTERFUL PITCHING

Southpaw Weakens in 9th After Retiring 22 Men in Order in Inaugural Game

Greatest Opening Day Crowd Sees Error by Sam Rice in Tenth Aid Champions to Turn Defeat Into Victory.

Crowder Victim of Climax as Cochrane, Simmons, Foxx Single; Grove Relieves Walberg After Mackmen Tie in Ninth.

By SHIRLEY L. POVICH
(Sports Editor of The Post).

CHEERS of victory ready to be unloosed in the ninth inning and again in the tenth glutted in 32,000 Washington throats in the eleventh inning yesterday as the Philadelphia Athletics in an almost cruel denial snatched the opening ball game of the season from the Nats by a 5 to 3 score.

Imminent victory turned to defeat for the Nats in a kaleidoscopic succession of events that sent the ball game into extra innings. The greatest inaugural game crowd in Washington history, with President Hoover and Mrs. Hoover in the little cluster of officialdom abart the Washington dugout, saw Lloyd Brown weaken out on the pitching mound with an epic triumph almost in his grasp in the ninth inning when the champion Athletics rose in their might to gain the tie that staved off defeat and pave the way for the climactic blow in the eleventh.

Bathed by the midsummer rays of a kindly sun that lent an added brightness to the gala opening, the fans banked high around the hexagon park, draped over the railings and overhowing into the playing field proper, found the scent of victory forced back down their nostrils as the Athletics, impotent for eight innings before the two-hit pitching of Brown, rallied in the ninth to ward off the defeat that was not to materialize.

Brown Coasting to Apparent Victory.

The youthful Brown, rugged as any on the Washington staff, was coasting serenely to victory with his 2-1 lead until a single by Bishop and a double by Haas tied the score. Then Marberry assumed the pitching burden and yielded a run that was offset by the Nats in the tenth but there was no reclaiming of the decisive tallies that Alvin Crowder allowed in the eleventh when three successive base-hits and two runs sounded the knell of Washington's hopes.

The tenth inning was the anti-climax. Then it was that Sam Rice, dean of the Washington outfielders, injected a schoolboy error into the proceedings when he allowed Bing Miller's line single to trickle through his legs, enabling the batter to reach third with one out. Fred Marberry walked Dykes, but Joe Boley singled sharply to right field to bring Miller home with the run that gave the Athletics an ominous lead.

Nats Fill Bases And Tie Score.

Here the Nats showed their mettle, however. The world champions, who had tied the score in truly championship fashion, permitted the Nats to gain a tie in the tenth with an exhibition of grammar school baseball. Lefty Grove had relieved Rube Walberg on the pitching mound and Joe Judge revived Washington hopes by leading off with a single to right. Harry Rice laid down a perfect bunt and beat it out and the bases were full with none out when Grove fielded Bluege's bunt, found Dykes sprawling on the ground at third base and then threw low and too late to Foxx at first in an effort to beat Bluege to the bag.

Three on and none out and the 32,000 were ready to hail a Washington victory with only a single run needed to tie the score. Roy Spencer, one of the game's hitting heroes, could help matters none; however, with his grounder to Boley which forced Judge at home, but Dave Harris, carrying a pinch bat to the plate in lieu of Marberry, sent a long fly to center to bring Harry Rice home with the tying run. Runners were still on second and third when Grove worked his way out of the situation by fanning Myer.

Crowder Is Victim Of Final Rally.

It was against Crowder, who had succeeded Marberry in the eleventh, that the Athletics won the ball game. After disposing of Haas on a fly, Crowder appeared to be helpless against the big guns of the Athletics' batting order. In rapid succession Cochrane singled to right, Simmons singled to center, Foxx singled to right and Miller sent out a high fly to drive home the two runs that decided the game.

Grove was able to protect his lead in the eleventh. Jimmy Dykes dashed behind third base to rob Rice of a hit and then in typical Grove fashion the string-bean left-hander made the game safe for Connie Mack by fanning both Manush and Cronin.

Until the fateful events in the ninth, tenth and eleventh, Lloyd Brown was on his way to some sort of a niche in the hall of fame. He allowed the Athletics two hits and a run in the first inning and then settled down to a masterful performance against the slugging champions.

Brown Puts Weight Behind Pitches.

Putting all the weight of his rugged torso behind his pitches with a motion that swung him almost out of the box, Brown fired his southpaw flooks and fast balls with devastating effect. His curves were breaking in magic fashion across the corners and the big guns of the Athletics' attack were muted from the second inning until the ninth, as was also the lower end of the batting order.

Up and down. Up and down. That was the order for the Athletics for seven innings. Nary a hit did they gain off the left-handed slants of the Washington pitcher as he warmed to his work and brushed the sweat from his brow with his gloved hand. For seven innings it was one-two-three for the Athletics at the plate, only 21 men facing the young pitcher who had been nominated by Manager Johnson to start the game.

During Brown's tenure, the Nats fielded flawlessly behind him. There was Joe Cronin like some wraith in uniform skipping all over the greensward to cut off seemingly certain base hits in crowd-pleasing fashion, endearing him again to the fans who adopted the shortstop as their idol in his sensational season of last year. Once—in the fifth inning—he threw out all three batters on sensational pick-ups amid the sustained applause of the stands.

There was Joe Judge like a Gibraltar at first base, intercepting scorching grounders throughout the afternoon with discouraging effect on the Athletics' offense. Not until Sam Rice's fatal error in the tenth inning did a fielding flaw mar the game.

True to his custom, Connie Mack crossed the program dope by withholding both Grove and Earnshaw, his aces, and starting Rube Walberg, portly southpaw. Brown weeks ago was announced as the Washington pitcher.

Hardly had the 21-gun salute to the Pan-American delegates at the game subsided before the cannonading commenced again when the Athletics went to bat in the first inning.

Max Bishop sent a hot liner into Buddy Myer's hands to begin proceedings and then Mule Haas sent a double screaming among the fans in left-center field for the first hit of the game. Cochrane was tossed out by Cronin, but Al Simmons answered a salvo of hoos with a sharp single to center field that brought Haas home with the first run of the game. Foxx was the third out—a strike-out victim.

The Nats replied to this outburst with the run that tied the score. Buddy Myer led off with the first of the three walks that he was to coax during the game. A sacrifice bunt by Sam Rice placed him on second and he advanced to third while Bishop was throwing out Manush. Joe Cronin stepped into the hero role at his first asking, however, and scored Myer with a stinging single through shortstop. He became the first of the thirteen Nats to perish on base when Judge flied out to Simmons.

Then the effectiveness of Brown's pitching set in. Not an Athletic reached base for seven innings. In the second, Bluege tossed out Miller, Dykes grounded to Judge and Cronin threw out Boley. Brown fanned Walberg and Haas in the third while Bishop popped foul to Cronin.

The third found Cochrane, Simmons and Foxx to be dealt with and this was done summarily by Brown on two pop flies and a strikeout of Simmons. Joe Cronin hogged the

RHEM HURLS CARDS TO VICTORY

Reds Defeated, 7-3; Benton Weakens Near End.

CINCINNATI, April 14 (A.P.).—The St. Louis Cardinals, National League champions, ran true to form and opened the new season today by pounding out a 7-to-3 victory over the Cincinnati Reds. Benton and Rhem had a pitchers' battle for six innings, but the former weakened in the seventh and gave up three runs.

Jersey Joe Stripp hit a home run for the Reds with one on base in the sixth inning. The official attendance was 29,848.

OPENING GAME PICK-UPS

BILOXI, the Nats' spring training headquarters, was well represented at yesterday's opener. Edward Berthet, owner of the New Biloxi Hotel, which housed Manager Johnson and his charges; Anthony (Tony) Ragusson, secretary of the Biloxi Chamber of Commerce, and Paul Tibilier, sports editor of the leading Gulf Coast newspaper, comprised a delegation which was on hand and which presented Johnson with a floral horseshoe before play started.

Here are the Washington "firsts" for 1931: First put-out, Myer; first assist, Cronin; first error, Sam Rice; first single, Cronin; first double, Spencer; first base on balls, Myer; first strike-out victim, Brown; first sacrificer, Sam Rice; first stolen base, Myer, and first to drive in a run, Cronin.

In marching circles, it is the general impression that a fellow either is in step or out. This is proved wrong each baseball opener by the diamond athletes when they trek to the flagpole—none of them in step with the man ahead of him.

A "smokeball" pitcher would have been in his element yesterday, due to the smoke made by the guns saluting the Pan-American flags. Unforunately, neither Manager Johnson nor Manager Mack had a flinger of this type.

Speaking of these salutes, a fair fan back of the press box asked if real bullets were being fired. We understand not.

President Pulls New Stunt.

President Hoover pulled a new one yesterday while tossing out the ball to start the game. Instead of his usual peg to the umpire in chief—in this case Bill Dineen—the Chief Executive threw to "Uncle Nick" Altrock; either that or his aim was mighty bad.

Extra conferences at the plate were needed yesterday before play started due to the fact that fans overflowed on to the playing field in left and center. Blows there were limited to two bases.

For a while yesterday, it looked as though this opening series would not be "official" because Managers Johnson and Mack did not shake hands in front of the camera. At the last minute, however, some one remembered this and then everything was O. K.

Max Bishop, first man up, worked

YANKS WIN; RUTH HITS HOMER

Ruffing Settles Down to Beat Sox, 6-3, Before 70,000.

NEW YORK, April 14 (U.P.).—Babe Ruth, Jimmy Walker, the Boston Red Sox, the weather man and some 70,000 persons of all shapes, sizes and sorts joined forces today to make New York's 1931 major league baseball opening an almost perfect affair.

The weather was sunny and warm, Mayor Walker added just the proper official touch. Ruth provided the drama with a typical Ruthian home run. The 70,000 people furnished the noise, and the Red Sox furnished just enough competition to make things interesting, but not enough for victory, the Yanks winning, 6 to 3.

Ruth's contribution to the afternoon's program far overshadowed all other efforts. The first game of the year was just another ball game until the big man, first up in the eighth inning, strode to the plate, spat upon his hands, and stepped into one of young Mr. Durham's curves. With the crack of the bat the 70,000 fans rose as one and watched the ball drop high into the right-field stands. As the Babe lumbered around the bases he was accorded a tremendous ovation. He answered the salute by bringing forth his widest, grade A, extra-quality smile.

Ruth Stars Afield And at Bat.

If there is one iota of truth in the old saying that "as Babe Ruth goes, so goes the Yankees," the New Yorkers are in for a banner year. Ruth not only hit a home run—he slapped out a single in the second inning and made a remarkable running catch for the last out of the game.

For a man starting his eighteenth season in the big leagues, Ruth is very spry, indeed. He is thinner than last year and seemingly in perfect condition.

Rufus "The Red" Ruffing went the route on the mound for the Yankees and turned in a very creditable performance. He allowed but eight hits, four of which came in the eighth inning when the Red Sox, thanks to a home run by Pinch Hitter Winsett, scored two runs. Their remaining tally came in the first inning when Warstler, first man up, tripled and scored on Sweeney's single.

Wilcey Moore, one-time Yankee, Durham and Morris pitched for the Bostons. Moore was driven from the hill in the fourth inning, when the Yanks scored three runs, and was relieved by Durham. Durham lasted until the eighth when Winsett batted for him. Morris worked the rest of the way.

The opening day ceremonies were the same as they have been since 1888, or 1887, for that matter. Led by a band, the players of both teams paraded to center field where, as the national anthem was played, the flag was raised.

Brown's Skill Praised by Johnson

Nats Hope to Avenge First Defeat Behind Hadley Today.

West Likely to Take Place in Center on Saturday.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

ALTHOUGH disappointed at being beaten out by the Athletics in yesterday's overtime opener, the Nationals, from Manager Walter Johnson down, were quite pleased with some of the other developments, the showing of Pitcher Lloyd Brown in particular. This young left-hander hurled really great ball until he was withdrawn in favor of Fred Marberry with two out in the ninth.

Manager Johnson last night could not think of enough good things to say about Brown's performance. "Any one who can keep a team like the A's from even getting a man on base for nearly eight innings must have something," the Nat leader said, "and Brownie is going to win a lot of games for us this season."

Team Showed Plenty Of Pep.

As for the rest of the team, they showed plenty of pep and fight, were on their toes at all times, and all are vowing vengeance against the Mackmen in the second game scheduled for this afternoon at 3 o'clock. Irving Hadley will draw the pitching assignment and, on what he has shown this spring, he should give the Men of Mack plenty of trouble. Against them last year, he broke even in four starts.

Just whom Manager Connie Mack will nominate for mound duties is not known. The players believe it will be Hank McDonald, the Portland rookie, who has been going great guns during the exhibition series and who took a long warm-up during yesterday's fracas as though he were being groomed for action.

Same Line-Up for Today.

The Nationals will line up as they did yesterday with Harry Rice again cavorting in center. This newcomer has demonstrated this spring that the Nats made a ten-strike in grabbing him. In addition to being a good hitter and a fine fielder with a good whip, he is mighty speedy and is always a threat on the base paths.

Sam West is the regular, however, and, judging from the manner in which he performed this spring, he is due to have a big year. Sam reported at Griffith Stadium yesterday and took a short workout. He declares that his throwing arm is about normal again, that the influenza has been chased from his system, and that he should be ready to start against the Mackmen in the series final here Saturday.

Cubs Impress As Pirates Bow, 6-2

Root and Hartnett Heroes as 45,000 Cheer Club.

Pittsburgh Held to 4 Hits; Bell Drives Home 3 Runs.

CHICAGO, April 14 (A.P.).—Before a record-smashing crowd of 45,000 spectators, Rogers Hornsby and his bristling Cubs set out on their National League pennant voyage today by staggering the Pittsburgh Pirates, 6-2, with an avalanche of hits and to the tune of a four-hit pitching rhapsody by Charlie Root.

Everything a National League team needs to keep heads up in the big push for the pennant was displayed in convincing manner by the Bruins as they took their flying start. Root was as good as he ever was in his comeback, the defense functioned perfectly and the heavy guns roared so loud that two Pirate hurlers, Larry French and George Grant, ducked for cover under a bombardment of ten hits, including a home run and three doubles.

It was by far the most auspicious opening ever played at Wrigley Field, both from the standpoint of the record crowd and the midseason performance of the home team. The stands were packed to capacity while the left and center fields were flowing over with the crowd. The day, though slightly cloudy, was almost perfect for baseball.

Hartnett Shines With Bat.

Sharing honors with Charlie Root today was Leo (Gabby) Hartnett, the strapping backstop for the Cubs. As Root mowed the Pirates down with monotonous skill except for a slight let-up in the eighth, when the Buccaneers scored their pair of runs, Hartnett's bat exploded forcibly.

In the second inning he drove one of the longest home runs ever hit in Wrigley Field to score Stephenson and to give the Cubs a lead they never surrendered. In his next two trips to the plate he struck out, once with the bases loaded, but he came back to lace a double and to score another run.

Lester Bell came close to him, a hero's role, by driving in three runs to clinch the game in the eighth, while Stephenson, with two hits in as many official trips to the plate, batted 1.000.

Every Cub got one hit or more except English and Grimm, who made up for their hitting deficiency with several pretty defensive plays.

Lloyd Waner got half the Pirate hits, a single and a double, and scored half their runs—one. The other blows were a single by Tommy Thevenow and a double by Hemsley.

Both Root and French, who departed for a pinch hitter in the eighth

Record-Breaking Turnout Of 250,000 Greets Baseball

(Associated Press.)

BRIGHT skies overhead and bright prospects for winning ball clubs on every hand brought record crowds and fine performances for the opening day of the 1931 major league baseball season.

Close to 250,000 fans attended the eight opening games in the two big leagues, breaking all previous day attendance records. The highest total previously recorded was 233,000 in 1925. With 70,000 turning out to see the Yankees trim the Boston Red Sox and Babe Ruth hit his first homer of the season in New York, the American League games attracted 134,000. Wrigley Field, home of the Chicago Cubs, held the largest number of National League fans as 45,000 were on hand to see the Cubs beat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 6-2.

Form was very much in evidence in the first day's results, but not one club failed to show signs of possible strength. The two 1930 champions, the Philadelphia Athletics and St. Louis Cardinals, found themselves with tough battles on their hands, but both came out ahead. The Athletics had to go 11 innings to defeat Washington, 5 to 3, in a mound duel. The Cards put on a big burst of scoring in the last three innings and beat Cincinnati, 7-3.

Chuck Klein, recent holdout of the Phillies, performed the day's big clouting feat, outshining even Babe Ruth, as he walloped New York Giant pitching for two home runs. The Giants won, however, 9-5. Charley Root, of Chicago, led the hurlers by holding Pittsburgh to four hits. Wes Ferrell, of Cleveland, got off to a good start on the mound by taking a 5-4 decision from the Chicago White Sox.

The Boston Braves and St. Louis Browns disturbed the form by upsetting the Brooklyn Robins and Detroit Tigers, respectively.

The estimated figures for the record opening day attendance:

AMERICAN LEAGUE.
New York—70,000.
Washington—32,000.
Cleveland—25,000.
St. Louis—7,000.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

DARK MAGNET SHOWS CLASS IN "GRAW" FEATURE

Kilmer Racer In Rousing Finish

Comes From Rear to Win by 4 Lengths; Sydka Next.

Three Winners Are Piloted Home by Robertson.

By J. B. SNODGRASS.
Special to Washington Post

HAVRE, DE GRACE, Md., April 14.—Willis Sharpe Kilmer, owner of Sun Beau and the others of the famous Sun Briar line, furnished the winner of the Adorable, for fillies, which featured a good card here today, when Dark Magnet won by four lengths. John Speed Elliott's Sydka was second. The Greentree Stable's Measure was third and Phantasime fourth. A half length separated the second front the third. The winner paid $6.40 and victory made a double for Jockey Alfred Robertson. Robertson later made it three for the day, winning the fifth with Make Haste.

Dark Magnet trailed in the early part of the race, next to last. Unusual, the E. J. Holland entry, was out in front to the stretch and Phantasime was close up. It appeared that Dark Magnet would not get up, but her stretch run dispelled all doubts, for she quickly passed the field and drew away to the longest lead of the day. She is by Traumer—Sun Magne and will be highly regarded from this race in her future engagements.

Unusual quit as suddenly as she began the race and Sydka showed good speed and saved ground in the stretch.

There was a large crowd present again and the weather continued ideal.

My Broom Sweeps Away Opposition in First.

D. C. Sand's My Broom, going to the front soon after the start, was never caught by the fourteen maiden 3-year-olds that were pursuing him, and won the first race going away, with Coltiletti up and paid $50.40. Glen Riddle Farm's Man O' War colt, Fleet Flag was second, with Robot close up third. Levante, derby and Preakness candidate and the favorite, was fourth. Fleet Flag paid $40.50 a place.

My Broom, by My Own—Bromelia, is a Derby candidate, as also is Fleet Flag. Another Derby candidate in the race was W. M. Jeffords' David, by Man O'War. He showed nothing. Levante challenged several times on the back stretch, but kept dropping back. Time, 1:13 4-5, 6 furlongs. G. D. Widener's Quorum, heavily backed, was never prominent.

Richard Pending's Ima Queen, taking the lead when G. D. Widener's War Saint went wide at the turn into the stretch, won the second race by a length. War Saint holding the place by four length over Sun Meddler. The winner paid $8.90. Royal Tree, which broke in front, was fourth. War Saint, the favorite, wrested the lead from Royal Tree in the first furlong and drew away by two lengths, but Ima Queen, which had moved up second, got the rail when the Widener horse bore out, and, under a strong finish by Robertson, had no serious challenger. Twelve started.

Wise Count Shows Way In Third Race.

F. Spatola's Wise Count, by Wise Counsellor—Grace Troxler, followed up his Bowie victory by winning the third race for 2-year-olds, showing to better advatnage in this, the Harewood, than in his previous start, but he had a battle to get a nose decision over General Advance, from the Middleburg, which came alongside at the sixteenth, and the two fought it out gamely, their heads glued together. Far back of these two the Glen Riddle Farm's Capacity headed the second division for third money.

C. V. Whitney's Fall Apple refused to break forwardly and left the gate almost last and was forced to run all the way on the outside. Peacock Alley ran well to finish fourth. They were timed in 53 4-5, the track record for four and a half furlongs being 53. The winner, a favorite, paid $3.80. Fifteen started.

Jockey A. Robertson won his third race of the day when he had the mount on the Lemar Stock Farm's Make Haste in the fifth race winning by a length and a half. Bud Charlton was second and Frank Fullen third, a half length behind Ruby Keller. The winner paid $8.00. He was timed in 1.46 1-5, a mile and one sixteenth. Bud Charlton led to the far turn, Robertson having a steadying hold on Make Haste. This puts Robertson in a good lead for the $500 gold stop watch.

Royal Charge, $16.40, Wins Sixth Event.

Mrs. E. Jackson's Royal Charge won the sixth race with C. Pegg up. The three leading horses were bunched at the wire. Nursery Rhymes was second and Grey Gull third. Grey Gull was on the rail in close quarters in the stretch and pinched back. The winner paid $16.40. Attamart showed speed to the stretch. Grey Gull was always a contender.

FLEET FLAG saved ground making turn into homestretch. Was under punishment from top of homestretch. He responded with good courage under hand riding last sixteenth and outgamed the tiring ROBOT at end. Fisher was busy on the latter entire journey in an effort to get to the leader. LEVANTE ran in spots. Was taken to outside of the leaders in stretch run and was closing at end.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—IMA QUEEN, $8.90, $3.80, $3.00; WAR SAINT, $3.30, $2.90; SUN MEDDLER, $3.60.

IMA QUEEN steadied along in near attendance of the leaders for the first half mile, saved ground when entering the homestretch and closing gamely when moving through on the inside of WAR SAINT, wore the latter down gradually and was moving clear under pressure. WAR SAINT had good early speed, raced ROYAL TREE into submission, but began bearing out badly when approaching the homestretch. He lost a lot of ground and was tiring fast in the final drive. SUN MEDDLER, pinched back in the early running, was taken to the outside for racing room and closed stoutly. ROYAL TREE offered good contention throughout. REDCLIFFE was going stoutly under a slight restraint at the end. NAE BREEKS showed improvement and appears ready. WIG weakened early. CRASHER could never menace the leaders.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—WISE COUNT, $3.80, $3.20, $2.80; GENERAL ADVANCE (Middleburg-Ziegler entry), $8.10, $6.20; CAPACITY, $9.80.

WISE COUNT began quickly and raced in close pursuit of GENERAL ADVANCE, remained next to the inner rail throughout the running. He responded to severe pressure and punishment during the final furlong to get up in the last 20 yards. GENERAL ADVANCE showed a keen turn of speed from the start, was stoutly urged for the entire journey and fought it out in rare fashion. CAPACITY avoided interference following the start, was hard ridden and held on well. PEACOCK ALLEY raced forwardly and had good speed. EVENING was forced to race wide all the way. She was not persevered with when unable to menace the leaders. CONSUMMATION went evenly. FALL APPLE was away in a tangle. He showed excellent speed when clear. NORWALK had no chance with the start.

FOURTH RACE—Five and one-half furlongs. Purse, $1,300. For 3-year-old fillies. The Adorable. Start good from gate. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 4:15. Off at 4:16½. Robertson rode a confident race on DARK MAGNET. Permitted the latter to get settled in her stride before making an effort and when called on she moved up with a rush to assume an easy lead. Was going away at end. SYDKA gradually improved her position after a slow beginning and hung on gamely under punishment. MEASURE in a jam soon after the break, was pulled up. She closed a big gap and finished going strong. PHANTASIME hung when put to a drive. UNUSUAL showed lot of speed in early stages but stopped as if short. Race may improve her.

Robertson waited until well around the final elbow before bringing his mount to the outside, disposed of BUD CHARLTON when entering the homestretch to finish with something in reserve. BUD CHARLTON rush to the front at once. Was steadied along until forced to a stiff drive. He held on with good energy to outstay FRANK FULLEN. Latter away well, was eased going to the first turn, went to the outside of his field when moving up, but he hung during the final furlong. RUBY KELLER was kept closer up than is usual in the early stages. She weakened in the stretch from her early efforts. PANDA was unable to stay in contention when put to a drive. Fought it out with ATTAMART all last quarter and was going away under pressure at end. NURSERY RHYMES lost ground entering homestretch where he went wide. Responded gamely to punishment and was up in the final strides to pass GREY GULL. Latter saved ground rounding the far turn and came through next the inside rail entering homestretch. Made a desperate effort at furlong pole but hung at end, under the whip. ATTAMART made too much use of in early stages, weakened when challenged.

WRENCH, racing next the rail, saved ground all of the way. Fought it out with RUNDALE all through homestretch. Latter hustled to the front on backstretch and rated at top speed all the way. FRANCIS COOPER tired when put to a drive. SUNNY PORT used up following the pace. FAIR MAN threatened at the turn out of the backstretch where he was out in the middle of the track. ## Wood's Record Attempt Is Again Halted by Wind

Miami Beach, Fla., April 14 (A.P.)—Prospects for Gar Wood's proposed assault on the world's speed boat record appeared remote today with the same cross winds that have prevailed since last Saturday continuing to sweep over the Indian Creek course.

The wind which blew in off the Atlantic Ocean, was accompanied today by occasional showers. The Weather Bureau here forecast continued east breezes through tomorrow.

LADDER SEEN PREAKNESS THREAT

Salmon Colt Looms as Rival of Equipoise in Rich Stake.

HAVRE DE GRACE RACE TRACK, Md., April 14.—Horsemen look with favor on Walter J. Salmon's Ladder as the probable contender against Equipoise in the Preakness. Ladder apparently has improved greatly over the winter.

The Lemar Stock Farm's Morsel, winner of the Prince Georges (Spring) handicap at Bowie and a candidate for the Philadelphia, showed a mile this morning in 1.44 3-5. W. E. Caskey, jr.'s William T. went a half in 0.49 3-5 with the same stake in view.

An official statement late today from the track showed that the net amount realized for the unemployment fund was $32,754.75.

The running of the $10,000 Harford is expected to bring out a tremendous crowd.

Joseph McLennan, racing secretary, said W. S. Kilmer's Sun Beau would start in the Philadelphia Handicap Saturday, a stake with $10,000 added, at a mile and a sixteenth. Kurtsinger has been engaged to ride the horse.

W. W. Finn, who holds the contract on Jockey Remillard, for which J. E. Widener is understood to be negotiating, will bring his stable to New York, where Mr. Widener will have an opportunity to view the lad in racing. The contract is held at $15,000.

Word coming down from New York has it that the Greentree Stable's Twenty Grand is back in his training and may not be a starter in the Preakness on May 9 at Pimlico.

Pres Burch shipped Admiral Gary T. Grayson's and the Foxcatcher Farm's horses here from Benning last night. Burch remained in Washington to take treatment for an injured leg.

Walter Burke, of Laurel, is again handicapping the program. His selections yesterday were all in the money.

Among the new riders to swing into action today were W. Studeley, D. Brice, B. Tatum and J. C. Mergler. The latter is a brother of Donald, who is under contract to W. M. Jeffords. Both Mergler brothers performed in the opening event.

Owners and trainers of steeplechase horses will be given permission to school their horses over the regular course of the Maryland Jockey Club, at Pimlico, on Tuesday, April 21, Thursday, April 23 and Saturday, April 25.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

ALTHOUGH King Brawman weighs 150 pounds and has the muscular development of an athlete, he crawls through a space 8½ by 4½ inches as easily as though he were walking through a doorway. Brawman, who also crawls through tennis rackets, has been performing his "squeezing" practices daily since he was a youth for two periods of fifteen minutes each, to keep fit. At a demonstration in New York recently, he crawled through the keyhole, a tennis racket, and then displayed his versatility by lying bare-backed on 1,200 spikes, and allowed a crowd of onlookers to walk on his body. After the procession was over, Brawman arose and showed the impressions of 1,200 spikes in his back, not one of which had penetrated the skin.

"This is on me" is the inscription that Dr. William P. Rothwell, of Pawtucket, R. I., has caused to be cut in a large boulder which will be placed over his grave. An ever-generous host, Dr. Rothwell has said "This is on me" so many times when paying a check, he wants the phrase to be his last words.

Sagamore Entry Picked To Win Feature at Graw

Balko, The Heathen Seen as Class of Field in Harford.

By J. B. SNODGRASS.

HAVRE DE GRACE RACE TRACK, April 14.—The Harford Handicap, $10,000 added, features an excellent card at the Susquehanna course today. Thirteen fleet sprinters have been named for the six furlongs contest. Heading the list in weight as well as probable speed is the Sagamore Stable's BALKO, with 126 pounds. He is coupled with THE HEATHEN, 118. It appears that either of the entry could win this rich stake.

The track is in perfect condition as this is written, but if conditions should change, neither would be at a disadvantage. This is BALKO'S debut for the year. He has worked fast for this engagement. He is said to be fit. THE HEATHEN had a conditioning race at Bowie. The entry will be favorite. BALKO won his two last races last fall. PROTRACTOR having the best of the weights, and a recent winner at Bowie and repeating on opening day here, should be the contender. HAPPY SCOTT may be third. SPINACH is in the race, but he is not believed to be up to best form.

FIRST RACE—BONNIE BRAE, Admiral Grayson's first starter, is said to be lightning condensed and is selected on works to win the first race for 2-year-olds. PHANTOM GENERAL, a Zeigler first starter, is rated contender. GOLDEN SPUR, second to Portam, should get in the money.

SECOND RACE—HALF DAY is selected in the second race. He beat good ones at Miami. ROAN ANTELOPE is training well. He beat Red Flare at Saratoga, and is by Man O' War. GILDED ARCH is fit, as recent races show.

THIRD RACE—William Ziegler's ILIUM is in top condition. Throw out his last race. He should win the third race, for he has been running against horses like Morsel. RIP VAN WINKLE is a candidate for the big stakes. It is not known that he is ready, but he should be the contender anyway. JOLLY KING appears next best. SEA FOX is inclined to quit.

FOURTH RACE—The famous SUN BEAU will make his first start in the fourth race, the Bay View, since his defeat in the Agua Caliente Handicap. He is said to be fit, but whether he is or not he should win this race. FOLKING seems the strongest opposition. WILLIAM T. may run well. SUN BEAU will start in the Philadelphia Handicap also on Saturday.

SIXTH RACE—EAGER PLAY is selected in the sixth race. He beat a good field in his last race in the South. WORKLESS has not run his best race so far and may do better on this track. MAKE BELIEVE should hold the others safe.

SEVENTH RACE—NEGODALE, which is earning the name of "iron horse" by his four victories at Bowie, should make it five in a row in the finale. FOUNDATION STONE, a greatly improved horse, may be the contender. He ran impressively to win Monday. COGWHEEL is a fair plater and seems best of the others.

BUSIEST DAY IN SPORTS FOR SCHOLASTIC ATHLETES

Seven Events Listed for Decision

Baseball, Track and Tennis Given Place on Big Card.

Central and Gonzaga Nine to Meet in Day's Feature.

BASEBALL, track and tennis, the triumvirate which rules scholastic spring sports, will bloom today as seven local and nearby schools see action on diamonds, cinder paths and courts. All together, it is the busiest single day the high schools have put in this spring in sports.

Just two days before it opens the high school baseball series, with Central as an opponent, Tech will play its first game of the season this afternoon on the Monument Grounds against Hyattsville High, and until after the game Coach Edwards will not know just who is going to represent the school in baseball habiliment this year. Tech has been dogged by a bad field and by cancellation of scheduled games. It goes into today's test pretty much of an unknown quantity.

Batson to Hurl For Tech.

Batson will do the opening hurling for Tech, with Russell, recently reinstated into good graces, standing as an alternate, and Chewning, a new pitcher, also on the reserve list. "Snitz" Nau, whose play in Tech's practice sessions has been noteworthy, will patrol one of the outfield precincts.

Doubtless one of the features of the day's activities will be the initial home game of Central's team, to be played against Gonzaga at the Monument Grounds at 3:30 o'clock. Central has played in two games this year, as has Gonzaga. Both have won one and lost one and are anxious to cop the vicarious "rubber."

Western resumes activities today, after a lengthy vacation from work, by tackling a real foe in Episcopal High, at Episcopal. The Virginians are a big hard-hitting club, and during batting practice last Friday frequently soared the old horsehide out to the center path in deep center field. Western is doped to come out second best.

Intramural Meet At Central.

The annual intra-mural track and field meet, staged for the benefit of the parents' association of Central High School will be run off today beginning at 3:30 o'clock, and will give local followers of scholastic sports doings the first view of the 1931 Central trackmen.

The postponed tennis match between Eastern and Episcopal is due to come off this afternoon, at Episcopal. The courts there are in excellent shape and several capable players have shown their faces at the Virginia school, but Eastern, with Gilbert Hunt, Maryland indoor junior champion, in its ranks is looked upon as the winner.

Braves Down Robins; Zachary K.O'd in First

Boston, April 14 (A.P.).—The Braves spotted the Brooklyn Robins four runs in the first three innings today then came from behind to win their opening game, 7 to 4. About 20,000 fans were present on a sunny, but cool afternoon.

Tom Zachary was knocked out in the first inning, but Cantwell and Sherdel held the flock in check. The Veteran Jack Quinn lasted for Brooklin until the seventh. Will Sherdel, the winning pitcher, opened that inning with a double that sent his rival to the showers. Wally Berger hit a single, a triple and a double for Boston.

NOTES OF GAME

the count to three and two and then lined to Buddy Myer.

After Haas had doubled in the first, Brown's first three offerings to Cochrane were balls. Then came two strikes and an infield tap to Cronin.

Cheers and Boos Greet Simmons.

Mingled cheers and boos greeted Al Simmons when he came to bat in the opener. He had the laugh on those "agin" him by singling to center and driving Haas home.

Manager Johnson was taking no chances on a quick blowup on the part of Pitcher Brown. He had Marberry in the bull pen from the very start of the game. Brown did well until the ninth, however.

Brown was given a big hand when he fanned Foxx to end the first with Simmons on first at the time.

After Myer had led off for the Nats by coaxing a pass, Sam Rice laid down a perfect sacrifice to advance his mate.

The count was three and two on Cronin, forcing Walberg to groove one, when the Nat shortstop singled to left in the first to bring Myer home from third and knot the count.

Bluege dashed over in front of Cronin for Miller's bounder opening round 2.

Harry Rice, who joined the Nats during the off-season, was given a big ovation when he opened for the Nats in the second. He responded with a clean liner-single to center.

Bluege Singles on Hit-And-Run.

The hit-and-run was on when Bluege, next up, met one on the nose for a single to left.

Brown "blew" a golden opportunity to help himself when he fanned in the second with men on third and second. As only one was dead, even a long fly would have helped him. Starting the alien third, Brown returned the compliment when he fanned Walberg, first up, on three successive deliveries.

Time was called in the third when Mule Haas broke a bat on a foul toward first and had to get himself a new flail. This was no better than the original, for Haas took a third strike.

It looked as though Sam Rice had at least a double coming to him when he opened the Nats' third with a long looper. Miller, however, went back and cut over toward center to snare the ball.

There was much glee in the stands when Brown slipped a third strike past Simmons when he opened the fourth frame.

For a moment, it looked as though Simmons had lost Bluege's liner in the sun in the home fourth, but the left fielder finally located the sphere and grabbed it.

Cronin "Stops Show" in The Fifth.

Joe Cronin "stopped the show," as the stage folks say, in the alien fifth. First he hustled in fast to toss out Miller, and then, in rapid order, he dashed over back of second to nail both Dykes and Boley on sensational stops and pegs.

Jimmy Dykes made a great try for Manush's foul in the fifth. He tried to stop when he reached the Macks' dugout, but skidded and went head first in it. Fortunately he was not hurt. Manush then walked, filling the bases. The catch, had Jimmy made it, would have retired the side. This put it up to Cronin, but his best was a pop to Bishop, near the right-field line.

Connie Mack has a unique method of numbering his athletes. Instead of tabbing them according to the order he figures to send them to the tee, as do the other teams, the Mack leader has them labeled according to the positions they play as designated by the scorers.

Spencer Fools Johnson As Hitter.

Judging from what he did yesterday, it looks as though Catcher Roy Spencer is going to fool his boss. The back stopper singled starting the fifth and doubled starting the seventh. This latter clout was turned into the run which broke the 1-all tie when followed by Myer's timely double over Simmons' head. Myer could have gotten three bases on his blow, but for the ground rule which limited all drives between the flagpole and the left-field line to doubles.

When Bishop singled with one dead in the ninth, he was the first Mackman to see base-life since the opening frame. His liner to center came after Jim Moore, up for Walberg, had lined out in the same sector.

Brown was given a great ovation when he gave way to Marberry with two dead in the ninth, showing that his fine effort was appreciated.

Grove, relieving Walberg, got off to a good start when he fanned Marberry, first to face him, starting the Nats' ninth. As Brown previously had fanned all of his three times up, the average of the Nat pitchers' batting was less than nothing.

Cronin Fails to Deliver In Ninth.

Myer, second to face Grove, coaxed his third walk of the day in the ninth, immediately stealing second. After fanning Sam Rice, the Mackian southpaw walked Manush, again giving Cronin a chance to get his name in big type in the papers. But the short-fielder failed to deliver.

As the tenth started, a dog came from nowhere out on the diamond. Joe Judge used his head in getting the animal off, tossing a ball toward the dugout which the caniene chased. There it was grabbed and escorted out of the park.

Fans breathed sighs of relief when Judge grabbed Bishop's liner as it was speeding by over his head. This ended the tenth and gave the Nats only one run to make up in their half instead of possibly two more, although having to score once in the home half, plenty big an order.

Harry Rice showed exceptional speed in beating out his intended sacrifice after Judge had singled opening the home tenth.

Dave Harris pinch-hit for Marberry with one dead and the sacks loaded in the Nats' tenth. He did not hit but he did almost as well, lofting to center deep enough to let Harry Rice come home with the tying run after the catch. Bluege also went from second to third on the play. This change brought "General" Al Crowder to the home hill.

32,000 WATCH NATS LOSE IN 11TH

Crowder Is Victim of Rally After Brown Leaves Game.

honors in the fifth by personally throwing out Miller, Dykes and Boley and in the sixth Walberg went out on a fly to right, Bishop on a grounder to Judge and Haas on a fly to Manush. Cochrane, Simmons and Foxx were impotent in the seventh, the catcher popping to Myer and Judge disposing of the latter two. When Brown disposed of Miller and Dykes on grounders in the eighth and Boley on a fly, it marked 21 consecutive outs for Philadelphia without a man reaching base.

Although the Philadelphia attack was brought up abruptly by Brown after the first, the Nats fired another volley in the second which netted only two hits. Harry Rice made his first appearance in a Washington uniform with a single to center and advanced on Bluege's single to left. Spencer pushed both along with a sacrifice bunt but they were stranded when Walberg struck Brown out and Myer popped to Bishop.

Walberg Holds Command.

Walberg was in command in the third and fourth, allowing no hits. He retired Sam Rice on a fly to Miller, Manush on a pop foul and Cronin on a fly to Haas in the third, while Judge, Harry Rice and Bluege were fly-ball victims in the fourth.

The fifth found Washington hopes high again as they filled the bases, but no run resulted. Spencer led off with a single past third. Brown struck out for the second time and Myer walked for the second time. Sam Rice was tossed out by Bishop but a walk to Manush filled the bases with two out. Cronin, however, could only pop to Bishop. The sixth saw the tie still in force as Boley threw out Judge, H. Rice flied to Miller and Dykes threw out Bluege.

Despite his stretch of scoreless innings, Walberg was being solidly pounded by the Nats and they finally broke through in the seventh.

Spencer led off with his second hit, a double into the crowd in left. Brown struck out for the third time, but Buddy Myer became the momentary hero with a double to deep left which saw Al Simmons go down in a butterfly flutter as he made a futile attempt for a turning catch. Spencer scored with the run that gave the Nats a 2-1 lead. Harry Rice and Manush could not bring Myer home.

Cronin Opens Eighth With Single.

Bright prospects for adding to their advantage arose for the Nats in the eighth. Cronin opened with a screeching single to center and advanced on Judge's sacrifice bunt. He went to third as Harry Rice grounded to Foxx and there were two on base when Walberg walked Bluege. Spencer, however, could respond only with a pop to Bishop for the third out.

As the game wore into the ninth with the Nats on the head end of the 2-1 score, victory seemed imminent for them with Brown in such fine fettle. Jim Moore, a pinch hitter, was sent in to bat for Walberg starting the ninth as Manager Mack made a last bid to tie the score and he went out conventionally enough on a fly to H. Rice—the twenty-second man to go down in order before Brown's superpitching.

Then the cannonading started anew. Brown yielded his third hit of the game, a single to right field by Bishop. In a jiffy the tying run was across as Haas slammed out his second double of the game to center field and Mack's bid had been successful. Cochrane went out on a hard-hit fly to left field and Manager Johnson detected that Brown was weakening. Amid resounding ovations, the southpaw left the field with bowed head. Marberry assumed the pitching burden and disposed of Simmons on a fly to right for the third out.

Rice's Error Places Miller on Third.

The Nats could not answer this rally when they found Lefty Grove facing them in the ninth. Marberry was a strikeout victim but Myer lifted hopes with a walk. Sam Rice went out on strikes but there were two on when Manush also walked. Cronin terminated the treat by grounding to Boley who tossed to Bishop for a force-out.

Marberry remained on the mound as the game went into extra innings and Foxx was out on a pop foul to Bluege. Bing Miller, however, started a new threat with his single to right field and he galloped around to third as Sam Rice permitted the ball to roll through his legs. After Dykes had walked, Boley brought Miller home with the run that gave the Macks their 3-2 lead. Further damage was averted when Marberry struck out Grove and Bishop lined to Judge.

The Nats went down fighting, but not until they deadlocked the score in their half of the tenth. After Judge had opened with his single to right, Harry Rice was safe on a neat bunt down the third base line. The Mackmen who had climbed the heights of championship play with their stirring rallies then plumbed the depths in laughable fashion as Grove fielded Bluge's bunt, turned to toss to Dykes, only to find the latter prone on the ground after falling as he rushed in to make the play. When Grove finally did throw to first in an effort to head off Bluege, the toss was low and fate and Foxx dropped it anyway to make matters funnier and louder.

Nats Score Only One Run.

Out of this situation which found the bases full and none out, the Nats could score only one run when Pinch Hitter Harris's fly brought Judge home.

Then the eleventh which saw Crowder's poor performance. With Haas out on a fly to Rice, Cochrane delivered a single to right, Simmons responded with a single to center and Foxx pushed another to right which brought Cochrane home and put Simmons on third. When Myer went far in to right field for Miller's pop fly, Simmons scored easily with the second run of the inning. Grove made the game safe for the Athletics in the eleventh.

CAMPOLO ARRIVES.

New York, April 14 (U.P.).—Victorio Campolo, Argentine heavyweight, arrived in New York today from Buenos Aires for a renewal of his championship campaign. Campolo denied that he had signed to meet Tommy Loughran, but declared he was willing to meet all rival aspirants for the title.

VIRGINIA 11-10 VICTOR OVER HARVARD

Sipley Is Cavalier Hero in Lengthy Slugfest.

Special to The Washington Post.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., April 14.—Harvard's nine dropped another game on its Southern trip today, Virginia nosing out the Crimson 11 to 10, in a hectic contest that lasted more than three hours.

The Cavaliers registered ten runs off of four Harvard twirlers in the first four frames, but were held in check later by Ben Tichnor, giant right hander, who returned to the mound and twirled the last three innings.

Brewer Pounded Off Hill in Sixth.

Ward Brewer, on the mound for Virginia, held the Crimson to seven scattered hits in five innings, but weakened in the sixth, when Harvard pushed over five runs, and was succeeded by McGuire. Fletcher was called on to finish the game and checked a Crimson rally.

Sipley, Virginia's first baseman, had a perfect day at bat, with five hits, including a double, and stole four bases. Steinberg's drive over the left field fence was one of the longest seen here in years. In the ninth frame he raced to centerfield to pull down Bassett's fly for the feature catch of the game. Tichnor's home run in the sixth was responsible for three of Harvard's runs, while Bassett and Kiernan contributed triples.

Klein Hits 2 Homers; Giants Beat Phils, 9-5

Philadelphia, April 14 (A.P.).—Staging a late rally that smashed an early Philadelphia lead, the New York Giants defeated the Phillies, 9 to 5, today in the opening game of the season. A crowd of 20,000 filled Baker Bowl for the game.

Ace Elliott started on the mound for the Phils. Aided by two home runs by Chuck Klein, he held the lead until the seventh inning. Klein clouted a four-bagger in the third and another in the fifth. But Hughie Critz did some home run hitting for the visitors, placing a circuit clout in the middle of the seventh inning rally that drove both Elliotts, Ace and Jim, from the mound and netted the Giants five runs. A recruit, Frank Watt, finished for the Phils. Mel Ott completed the rout with a second Giant homer in the ninth.

Fred Fitzsimmons pitched a fair game for New York until lifted for a pinch hitter in the seventh. Joe Heving failed to last an inning and Bill Walker completed the game.

Browns Show Class Beating Tigers, 7 to 3

St. Louis, Mo., April 14 (A.P.).—Playing like veterans, the revamped and youthful St. Louis Browns put over a successful season's opener here today by defeating the Detroit Tigers, 7-3, before a crowd of 7,000. The second inning was fatal for Detroit when Kress started with a walk. Bettencourt drove out a two-base hit, Kress scoring from first. Schulte singled to left, scoring Bettencourt. Stewart tripled, scoring Schulte, and then reached home on Levy's single.

Walter Stewart, who promises much for the new Browns, allowed the Detroit hitters only six hits. The performance of the St. Louis Americans, who have been an uncertain quantity because of a majority of new faces, surprised the opening day fans.

V. P. I. PLAYS CAROLINA TODAY

Murden Will Pitch for Goblers in Season Opener.

Special to The Washington Post.

BLACKSBURG, Va., April 14.—V. P. I.'s nine will face University of North Carolina batsmen here tomorrow in the opening game of Polytech's fifty-fifth baseball season. The tilt is to be the first battle of a belated spring sports season that calls for almost 50 contests within a month.

The Gobbler team will play without Reggie Mapp, cocaptain and pitching ace, who is ill in a Roanoke hospital pending a minor operation which is expected to keep him from the field at least half of the season. In his place George Kircher, veteran little strategist of Poly nines, is expected to send Lloyd Murden to the mound against the Tarheels. Murden holds a record on the mound that challenges Mapp's achievement of an even dozen wins in the past twelve games in which he has pitched. The big blonde right-hander was out of the game most of the 1930 season, but hung up an unrivaled list of wins his sophomore year, including a no-hit, no-run performance against North Carolina State.

Few Veterans on Team.

In other positions on the team, Kircher will send against the Carolinians only two players who had a hand in trimming the visitors in the opening tussle here a year ago. Nelson Bibb, cocaptain with Mapp, will play second base, and Johnny Nicholas, another veteran of two seasons, will be back at short stop. Bob Fisher edged up in the race for Bird Hooper's place at first base to cop the assignment ahead of Gene Brown and Reg Sutton. Hans Wagner or Bob Allebaugh will get the third base job.

A new outfield trio includes Benny Palmer, from the 1930 freshman team, and Sam Harwick and Ray Barnard, who had utility roles last year. This combination lacks the experience of Kircher's great 1930 ball hawks, but is fairly fast and packs a wallop at the plate.

With only a remnant of his 1930 pennant winners on hand and his pitching ace lost for at least half the season, Kircher, the perennial optimist of V. P. I.'s coaching staff, is planning a real scrap for another Tri-State title. In the Tarheels his new team will face one of the league leaders. Game time is 4 o'clock.

Virginia Cub Trackmen Beaten by Woodberry

Special to The Washington Post.

Woodberry Forest, Va., April 14.—conceding 9 points by default of the pole vault, the University of Virginia freshmen track team went down in defeat before Woodberry Forest in the season's opener for the local outfit, by a margin of 3 points, with the final count standing, Woodberry, 59; Virginia, 56.

Each event was hotly contested, and at no point through the afternoon was either team more than 4 points ahead. With 10 points each, Gwynn, of Woodberry, and Antrim and Coles, of Virginia, tied for high scoring honors. Gwynn checked in with a time of 10 flat in the century and 21 4-5 in the furlong. Antrim covered the 120 high hurdles in 16 2-5 seconds, and the 200 low hurdles in 25 9-10, while Coles heaved the 12-pound shot 50 feet 11½ inches and captured first place in the discus with a toss of 120 feet 4 inches. The freshmen captured eight first places, while Woodberry took four.

Keswick Club Stages Annual Hunter Trials

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., April 14.—The 1930-31 hunting season of the Keswick Hunt Club will officially end tomorrow with the annual hunter trials, to be held at Clover Hill, home of E. H. Joslin, about two miles from Keswick. The trials will be followed by a big barbecue, given primarily for farmers and residents of the community over whose lands the Keswick hounds have hunted for the past six months.

Three classes are on the day's program—for lightweight hunters, middleweight and heavyweight hunters and ladies' hunters. Silver plates, donated by the Hunt Club, will be awarded the winners of first and second places in each event. Practically every member of the Hunt Club will enter one or more horses in the trials, inaugurated last year for the first time in the history of the organization.

The sporting set of Albemarle and adjoining counties is expected to be well represented at the trials and at the barbecue. The first class in the trials will start at 10 o'clock. The entries in each event will be sent over the course singly and will be judged on their manenrs, pace, form and other requisites necessary in a good hunter. The lightweight hunters will carry up to 165 pounds and the middleweight and heavyweight hunters up to 200 pounds. Hunting costume is requested, but not required.

The barbecut, which will immediately follow the finish of the class for ladies' hunters, will be held at the horse show grounds and will probably get under way between 1:30 and 2 o'clock.

EVA GUDE LEADS.

Miss Eva Gude, of the Convention Hall team, won the first block of her special match with Miss Reva Banks, of the Boulevard team, last night at the Arcadia, securing a five-game total of 500 to her opponent's 461. The second and concluding block will be rolled next Tuesday night at the Boulevard alleys. The winner rolled in the order given games of 89, 111, 95, 91 and 114, and Miss Banks registered 102, 87, 84, 93 and 95.

COMMERCE CLUB DRILLS.

Candidates fro the Department of Commerce colored baseball team will report to Fred L. Slade, manager, today at 5 p. m., at Four and One-Half street and Missouri avenue, on Diamond No. 2.

Alexandria Sports

ALEXANDRIA, Va., April 14.—Fifteen baseball games will be played by the Southern Railway tossers up to July 25, it was announced today by Manager Theodore Beach. Twenty-two players will be carried on the squad and all games will be played on week days. Director Beach also stated his club would make many road trips this season.

"Slim" Giles, veteran baseball player, formerly a star minor leaguer in West Virginia and later with the Old Dreadnaughts of this city, will probably coach the team. Giles lead the American Legion Juniors, of 1929 to a State championship as coach.

The schedule for the team follows: April 18, Army Medicos, away; 25, Fort Washington, away; May 2, Fort Myer, away; 9, Majestic A. C., home; 16, White Oak, Fredericksburg, Va., away; 30, Fredericksburg Elks, two games, away; June 6, Hyattsville, South Methodists, away; 13, Warfenton, away; 20, Fort Washington, home; 27, Army Medicos, home; July 4, Culpeper All-Stars, two games, away; 11, Fort Myer, home; 18, Fort Royal All-Stars, away; 25, Spencer M. Co. Team, away.

Players with the Southern nine this season will be Darnell, Jim Moore, B. Moore, Hamilton, Langford, Endicott, Miller, Latham, Giles, Ludlow, Fairfax, Pierce, Kite, Hummer, Godfrey, Gentry, Toombs, Donald, Davis, Partlow, O'Conner and Brenner. The mound duties will be taken over by Jimmy Moore, late St. Mary's star, Godfrey, of the Hume Springs nine and Gentry, who pitched for the Southern boys last year. Russ Kidwell and Hamilton will don the mask and mit.

Manager Theodore Beach, of the Nation-Wide Stores Team, is hunting for a pitcher. He requested any hurler interested in playing with his team to phone him at Alexandria 1509-J, between 6 and 8 p. m.

The Nation-Wide Team will oppose the Clover-A. C. on Haydon's Field tomorrow at 4:30 o'clock. Other games listed are Alexandria High, pending for Saturday, and the Jefferson A. C. at Clarendon, Va., on Sunday.

Yesterday the Nation-Wide Team defeated the St. Paul's Club, 8 to 0. Joe Garvey and Simpson pitched for the locals. Mendelson and Jack Moore hit home runs.

Sam de Vaughan, manager of the Cardinal Athletic Club, hopes to have the boys begin active preparation for the 1931 campaign this week. The Cardinals will probably open their season on Haydon's Field on April 26.

Bill Schwartz, Alexandria's leading light-heavyweight boxer, will trek to Richmond this week for a match against Ad Stone, boxer from North Carolina. Schwartz is in great shape and hopes to defeat his opponent. The Alexandria boxer is working out daily in Frankie Mann's stable in Washington.

Marshall Baggett, Alexandria boy, who is a senior at William and Mary College, at Williamsburg, Va., is enjoying one of his best years at the cinder path sport.

In Saturday's track meet with V. M. I., the Alexandria youth established a new mark for the 120 high hurdles, when he raced the distance in 16 seconds. Baggett easily copped the event from his opponent. The Alexandria trackman also won the 220 low hurdles in the fast time of 25.7.

The record smashed by Baggett had been standing at the Williamsburg school since 1922. In the V. M. I. meet the local lad was the only double winner. According to reports emanating from Williamsburg, it is understood Baggett will carry the school's colors in the Penn Relays in Philadelphia this spring.

Baggett was captain of the Alexandria High School Track Team in 1924-25. He also captained the Indians last season and besides running the hurdles, turned in a quarter-mile in 50 seconds.

Cleveland, April 14. (A.P.)—The Cleveland Indians rallied for two runs in the eighth inning today to nose out the Chicago White Sox, 5 to 4, before a record opening-day crowd of 25,162. Wesley Ferrell, who won 25 games last year, pitched the victory.

STOCK PRICES CLOSE 1 TO 5 POINTS LOWER

Several Important Issues Drop Below Records for Year or Longer.

New York, April 14 (A.P.).—The stock market took one step forward and several steps backward today. Opening with a rally that promised a short squeeze, it turned downward before noon and preferred the lower trend throughout the rest of the day, closing with net losses of 1 to 5 points. The turnover was 1,900,000 shares and trading was very dull in the last hour.

Electrical equipment, chemical and amusement issues offered the least resistance to selling, although steels, rails, oils and utilities caught up with those groups toward the close. Tobaccos moved ahead for a time, but had to meet profit-taking. Automobile shares, under the strong leadership of General Motors, were firm.

New lows for the year or longer were made by Baldwin, Westinghouse, Armour of Illinois preferred, Goodrich, Southern Railway, Lackawanna and the Frisco. U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Radio, American Smelting, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Consolidated Gas, International Telephone, North American and American Water Works were down 1 to 1¾ net.

General Electric Breaks.

General Electric broke 2 points on selling supplied by an unofficial estimate that first quarter dividends had not been earned by a small margin, the first time in years that such a situation has confronted the company. Bookings and billings were said to be off about 33 per cent from the same period of 1930.

American Telephone's report on results for the initial three months revealed a gain in net income of more than 11 per cent over last year's corresponding quarter. The increase was supplied by larger dividend receipts, for telephone revenues were virtually unchanged. The system suffered a net loss of 38,500 phones, but installations in March gained 2,500, which was regarded as significant.

The market was probably more interested in President Grace's comment on Bethlehem earnings than in other proceedings at the stockholders' meeting. Mr. Grace said preferred dividends had been covered in the first quarter and that a small balance probably remained for the common. Final figures will be announced in another fortnight. Current operations of the company are at 50 per cent of capacity.

Effect of Spain's Upset.

King Alfonso's departure from the Spanish scene was without visible effect, except in the exchange market where the peseta again slumped. Bankers did not disclose whether the recent stabilization credit had yet been used, but it was pointed out that that grant was in the nature of a private transaction between foreign banks, including an American syndicate and the Bank of Spain.

The drop of more than 11,000 cars in freight loadings for the week ending April 4, as compared with the previous week, was larger than had been expected and did not speak particularly well for the seasonal movement of goods. Another unsatisfactory bit of statistical information was the preliminary estimate that crude oil production had risen rather substantially.

Foreign exchanges were mixed. The peseta dropped half a cent but held above the year's low. Dutch Guilders reacted. The French franc, sterling and the German mark were firm.

BOND PRICES RISE AS MARKET CLOSES

Second-Grade Rails Rally and Industrial Issues Are Firm and Higher.

New York, April 14 (A.P.)—The bond market was generally higher today. A general upward movement in railroad obligations, especially obligations of second grade rating, was a feature of the market. This movement was ascribed to the end of liquidation rather than to any definitely favorable development in the railroad industry.

The inclusive nature of the advance may be realized from the fact that such varied issues as St. Paul 5s of 1975, Boston & Maine 5s of 1967, Missouri, Kansas & Texas series A 5's, Missouri Pacific series I 5's, Northern Pacific prior lien 4s, and St. Louis San Francisco 4½s of 1978 and the series A 4s of that carrier all closed higher after active trading. Net gains of several issues of this group exceeded 1 point. Another significant fact was that a number of these bonds recently were under the greatest selling pressure of their group.

The new issue of New York Central 4½s of 2012 and the series D 4½s of the Pennsylvania were both active and higher. These issues sold below their respective offering prices last Friday for the first time since their recent flotations.

The trend of foreign obligations was less certain and closing prices showed the majority of them to be narrowly lower than Monday's final prices. Activity was sporadic. Argentine and some other Latin American issues provided a good volumne usually at lower levels but the transactions in many others consisted of a few small sales. It was the opinion of some bankers that the political upset in Spain would tend to check public foreign financing in the immediate future.

Industrial bonds were firm to higher, but the trading in them was less lively than in the railroads. Public utility obligations were steady. United States Government issues were firm on a moderate turnover.

BANKS' RESOURCES ARE $341,557,000

Capital's 39 Institutions Show Largest Deposits in History, March 25.

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Resources of the 39 banks of Washington on March 25, date set by the last call for statements of condition issued by Comptroller of the Currency John W. Pole, were $341,557,000, an abstract of reports compiled by his office reveals. Resources as of this day when deposits were the largest in the history of the city, were $12,840,000 ahead of those of December 31, previous call date, and $23,865,000 in advance of those of 40 banks on the call date of March 27, 1930.

Resources of the 12 national banks of the city were $190,689,000; of the 22 savings banks, $47,673,000 and of the five trust companies, $103,195,000.

While the quarterly report of President Walter S. Gifford, American Telephone & Telegraph Co., made public yesterday, shows a net loss for the Bell System of 38,500 telephones or one-fourth of 1 per cent of those in service, it is of interest to know that the net gain of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co's. of the District, Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia for the first quarter of 1931, was 7,124.

Although the net gain for the system for March was approximately 2,500 telephones, that of its four C. & P. units was 3,064.

LOSS OF EYE WINS GIRL $2,500 AWARD

Prince Georges Jury Gives Verdict Against Boy Who Threw Nail.

Damages to the amount of $2,500 were awarded Laura V. Funk, 10-year old, who was suing a 13-year-old boy for the loss of her right eye, by the Prince Georges county circuit court jury which heard the case yesterday. The boy, Norman Miller was alleged to have thrown a nail which struck the girl in the eye.

The girl, through her father, Fred Funk, had asked $25,000 in damages. The families, neighbors, live in the vicinity of Hyattsville, on the old Powder Mill road. The girl was said to have been riding in an automobile with her father when the boy threw the nail.

Attorney J. Frank Lillard appeared for the complainant, while M. Hampton Magruder was counsel for the defendant.

The county commissioners yesterday rejected a change in zoning for the Heitmuller property on Sargent road, and only partially allowed a change in Beltsville.

The Beltsville property comprised a tract of three and one-half acres between the Baltimore boulevard and the railroad, as well as four blocks on the west side of the boulevard north of the turn. The Beltsville Land Co. had asked a change of all this from residential A to commercial D. Change in the zoning of both tracts had been approved by the Park and Planning Commission.

The commissioners allowed the requested change of the three and one-half-acre tract on that part of it north of the line of Montgomery avenue, and allowed the change on the four lots. The southern part of the larger plot, however, facing St. John's Episcopal Church, will remain a residential area. The vestry of the church had objected to the change.

Change of the Heitmuller property, which is near the District line, had been objected to by the Park and Planning Commission, and the county commissioners upheld this objection.

Hearings on both changes were marked by spirited debate by those favoring or objecting to the proposed zoning.

Walter Brooks, road supervisor, was ordered to repair the Broad Creek bridge at a cost of not more than $150. Surveys and estimates of costs for repairs to the following also were ordered: Queen Anne bridge, Princess Garden bridge, Good Luck road, Carmody road, Hill road, and the bridge on Carmody road.

H. T. Jenkins appeared before the commissioners to ask $1,000 for the construction of the road from Suitland to Bradbury Heights. A delegation headed by Mrs. Frank Harris, of Bowie, asked the extension of the Edmonston road from its present ending to Camp Meade. This proposal was taken under consideration for inclusion in the 1932 budget.

The school board, at its monthly meeting yesterday, decided to take up its option on 4 acres of land near the District Line School, and a check for $2,000 was sent to the owner of the tract. Funds for this purchase were included in the county budget for 1931.

The board also definitely decided to close the Hickory Grove School, which has not had the minimum attendance required by law for three years. At present there are only nine pupils in this school. No arrangements have been made for caring of these pupils, but a bus line will be used to transport them to one of the schools in the vicinity. The school will remain open the rest of this school year, however.

Bonds authorized by the last legislature for the financing of school buildings during the next two years will be offered for sale in December, for January, 1932, dating. They can not be offered sooner as the bill providing for the bond issue does not become effective until June 1, and was not passed in time for the county commissioners to make provision for the interest in the current budget.

Nicholas Orem, superintendent of schools, pointed out that no construction could be finished now for occupancy when the system reopens next September, and that there was, therefore, no hurry in the financing.

The board decided to accept the offer of the Julius Rosenwald fund, which is willing to turn over $7,200 for the colored schools in the county. This sum will be used to equip the new colored schools planned for the next two years.

Of this sum $4,000 will go to the new Marlboro Colored School, $2,500 to the Fairmont Heights School and $700 to the Aquasco School.

An indictment for murder has been returned by the grand jury against Paul E. Dement, 55 years old, of Branchville. Dement is charged with having fatally stabbed Claude L. Hughes, also of Branchville, on February 23, while fighting over an alleged slight to Hughes' children.

An effort was made some time ago to gain Dement's release on a writ of habeas corpus, his counsel having endeavored to show that the killing was manslaughter and not murder, as shown by the original warrant. The writ was denied by the Circuit Court, however.

Pointing out that the proposed lock-up in Hyattsville would not be strictly a jail, but would only be used for detaining prisoners for short periods, T. Howard Duckett yesterday issued a statement favoring the structure.

Mr. Duckett's statement was issued at the same time it was learned that Gov. Albert C. Ritchie had cancelled a hearing on the bill establishing a county building in Hyattsville. The bill passed the legislature during the last session, but a hearing was proposed before it was signed by the governor.

The bill provides that the county commissioners shall rent, at a rate of not more than $500 a month, a suitable building for county offices, including a full time police station. The First National Bank building is generally considered hte logical structure for this purpose. The lock-up would probably be placed in the basement of this building.

Hyattsville's objection to this proposal is not veiled, the council having already passed an ordinance forbidding the establishment of a jail without a permit from the town. Mr. Duckett's statement points out that prisoners are kept in all police stations overnight. He also criticizes the present practice of keeping prisoners in the Bladensburg jail, which is often crowded, and has been the scene of a number of escapes in the past few months.

Virginian Fights Embezzling Case

Former Orphanage Official May Carry Contest to Supreme Court.

Richmond, Va., April 14 (A.P.).—James P. Jones, under sentence of five years for embezzling funds of the Virginia Methodist Orphanage while serving as its treasurer, may take his fight for freedom to the United States Supreme Court.

Attorneys for Jones were in the office of the clerk of the Virginia Supreme Court of Appeals today making arrangements for preparation of the record. It was pointed out that application for a writ of certiorari must be made within three weeks of the date of the judgment appealed from. Such a writ may be granted by any justice of the United States Supreme Court.

The Federal question raised in Jones' case is whether the indictment sufficiently informed the defendant of the specific charge against him. The Virginia Supreme Court refused last Wednesday to review the case.

Lynchburg Holdup Nets Robber $400

Man Using Stocking Mask Avoids Recognition in Drug Store.

Special to The Washington Post.

Lynchburg, Va., April 14.—A well-dressed holdup man, using a silk stocking as a mask, held up College Pharmacy, near Randolph-Macon Woman's College, shortly before midnight last night and made off with $400 in cash and $250 in checks. The robber showed intimate knowledge of the store.

Seven customers were in the store with C. A. Pollard, pharmacist, in charge. Funds from the cash register had just been counted and preparations were under way to close when the robber appeared and ordered "hands up."

Backing out of the store the robber sped away in a new automobile, the license number of which, police said, was issued for a resident of Huntsville. Police tonight were without a clew to the robber's identity.

CAVEAT WITHDRAWN, ZINN WILL ADMITTED

$50,000 Aviation Trust Fund Created for University of Virginia.

Special to The Washington Post.

Orange, Va., April 14.—The will of the late Capt. George Zinn, who died at his home at Rydal, Pa., July 7, 1929, has been admitted to probate in Norristown, Pa., following withdrawal of a caveat filed by his widow, Mrs. Flora Cameron Zinn, a short time after his death. The will disposes of an estate in excess of $250,000. The testator created a trust fund of $50,000 for the University of Virginia, to be known as the "Captain George Zinn Aviation Fund."

Among bequests to friends is $25,000 to Ruth M. Thornburg, "for kindness shown," $1,000 to Clinton Enley and $1,000 to each of Enley's children; $1,000 each to Robert and Toeford Gentry; $500 each to "Mose," colored servant, and Wrenreth Jackson; and $300 to Jim Brogan.

Widow Was Omitted.

The will directs that the testator's debts be paid. These included $100,000 for services to the mother of the testator, Mrs. Annie Rogers duPont, wife of the late William duPont, owner of Montpelier, historic old estate and home of James Madison, fourth president of the United States. Mrs. duPont's death occurred previous to that of her son.

The widow, Mrs. Flora Cameron Zinn, of Gordonsville, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Cameron, of Gordonsville and Richmond, was intentionally omitted, the testator said, as she has sufficient income and was provided for in a trust deed of September 1, 1927, from which she is to receive $18,000 annually. The widow was authorized to take what personal effects she wanted from the home.

Son Given Bequest.

The sum of $100,000 and the estate, The Ponds, at Rydal, were bequeathed to the son, George. In appreciation of many years of service, Gaston Hall, the estate at Somerset, was left to William R. Scharton.

At the death of Mr. Scharton the $35,000 trust fund for the upkeep of Gaston Hall is to revert to the residuary estate. The residue of the estate was to go to his son George or his heirs. The latter, aged 23 and unmarried, was killed in an airplane crash on October 19, 1930, at an air meet at Mercer Airport, Trenton, N. J.

But, sweet, I'd hardly ever dare
Until I know just what you smoke, dear.

Your ruby lips arouse in me
The mad impulse to kiss and let kiss;
But I must know with certainty
The maker of your cigarette, miss.

Your cheeks, they have that schoolgirl glow;
In fact, your beauty knocks me smacko;
But ere I kiss you I must know
What is your favorite tobacco?

My, girl, you've got me off my nut—
I can no longer help but tell you;
I'd kiss you if you'd whisper what
You let the cigarette clerks sell you.

I crave you with a quenchless love—
I'd wed you * * * if you'd first explain, sweet,
Do you insist your "cig," my dove,
Be tightly sealed in cellophane, sweet?

What's that? * * * You must be kissed right now!
You love me with a faith unerring?
Gosh! I'll kiss you anyhow—
Smoke what you wish, including herring!

BAN ON RUM BLAMED IN JAIL DISCONTENT

Sheriff in Hagerstown Says Men Wanted to Take Girls to Theater.

Special to The Washington Post.

Hagerstown, Md., April 14.—An inspector from the office of Sanford Bates, director of Federal prisons, Washington, today visited the Hagerstown Jail following complaints from Federal prisoners that food was insufficient and that conditions generally in the jail were neither sanitary nor moral.

Sheriff W. Bruce Downin, who accompanied the inspector, refused to disclose what took place. It was learned, however, that the inspector's name was Sweigert. He refused to be interviewed following the investigation, nor would the sheriff answer questions.

The jail has been the scene of several near riots during the past week, and it was necessary once to call in a squad of local police to get the men back into their cells, after they had broken dishes and refused to eat food served them.

The sheriff charged it was not the food, which was the same served on his own table, that caused the trouble among the Federal prisoners, but that they revolted because they were not permitted many liberties they said they got in other Maryland jails. They wanted to be out at night to take their girls to the theater. The sheriff said another reason for the trouble was the cutting off of their supply of whisky which had been smuggled to them while they were in jail. The leak was discovered and plugged.

West Virginia Fire Thought Checked

Forest Blaze on Cacapon Mountain Burns Over 500-Acre Tract.

Special to The Washington Post.

Berkeley Springs, W. Va., April 14. Fifty volunteers under deputy fire wardens today were fighting a forest fire on Cacapon Mountain, about 2 miles from here. The fire has burned over 500 acres of mountain land, including some good timber.

The force of fire fighters thought the blaze was under control today. The fire started Friday night in a shanty on the place owned by the late Herbert Quick, author, and rapidly gained headway before organized fighting was undertaken. The home of Reazie Spring, in the line of the fire's spread, was saved by backfiring.

Recruits for the fighting were gathered from here as well as from the section where the fire occurred.

MONTGOMERY BARS CEMETERY PERMIT

County Rejects Applicants for Burial Grounds Near Aspen.

Montgomery County Bureau of The Post, 9103 Conn. Ave., North Chevy Chase, Md. Telephone Wisconsin 4206.

The Montgomery County commissioners yesterday rejected the application for a permit to establish a cemetery on a 100-acre tract near Aspen, on the Brookeville pike, which had been filed by the New Mount Olivet Cemetery Co.

Scores of residents of the neighborhood had appeared at a public hearing held by the commissioners to oppose the granting of the permit on the ground that it would cause a depreciation in the value of their property. The continual streams of funeral corteges, with their aspect of mourning, would tend to depress the entire neighborhood, and the residents declared that they feared contamination of nearby water sources because of drainage, although an expert hired by the cemetery company said that this was unfounded.

Among those who appeared to protest against the permit were Donald Bowie, sr., and Donald Bowie, jr., Judge James L. Pugh, Calvin Bready, Harry Martin, of Kensington; Matthew Trimble, jr., Mrs. Bessie McIntosh, Mrs. Woodworth and Mrs. Clayton Rabbit. Letters opposing the cemetery were read from Maj. E. Brooke Lee and Dr. Morton A. English.

Charles Y. Latimer, former clerk of the county police court, at Rockville, yesterday was appointed assistant in the office of Berry E. Clark, clerk to the county commissioners. Mr. Latimer, who is a resident of Takoma Park, will assume his new duties today.

Berry E. Clark, clerk to the commissioners, and Capt. Joseph C. Cissel, member of counsel to the county commissioners, were authorized to prepare the necessary resolutions and other legal procedure preparatory to the sale of certain bond issues authorized at the last session of the General Assembly.
